"RUSSIA AND JAPAN PREPARING FOR WAR"

Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans Says Both Nations Are Now Getting Ready for Another Desperate Battle.

DECLARES UNITED STATES NEED HAVE NO FEAR

Characterizes Talk of Conflict Between Uncle Sam and the Yellow Men as Mere Buncombe. Has High Regard for Roosevelt and Taft. Speaks Here Tonight

"Fighting Bob" is here.

Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, United States navy, retired, one of the most interesting figures in American naval history, is just plain "Fighting Bob" to his devoted countrymen who find in that significant appellation full expression for their profound appreciation of his achievements. Admiral Evans prefers that title, too, for like all really great men he is simplicity itself.

Admiral Evans arrived in Colorado Springs at 2:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon over the Santa Fe road for a brief rest before his lecture at the Opera House tonight. With him are Mrs. Evans and her maid, and G. E. Harman, who is directing the lecture tour.

They are staying at the Antlers hotel and will remain in the city until Wednesday before resuming their tour to the Pacific coast. This is Admiral Evans' first visit to Colorado [illegible]. A man of slight build, [illegible] height, worn, [illegible], a man who [illegible] crutches [illegible] wrinkled face as he spoke of the memorable tour of the American fleet around the world.

"America can always point with pride to the distinction of being the first nation to send a fleet around the world," he said proudly.

He declined to tell of the triumphant cruise of the fleet, reserving that story for his lecture this evening. Colorado Springs people will honor the great naval hero with a large attendance at his lecture, which promises to be one of the finest and most instructive delivered here this season. There is a brisk demand for seats. His subject [illegible] In command of the fleet from Hampton Roads to San [illegible] Colorado Springs in the only [illegible] Colorado in which Admiral Evans will lecture.

Says War Talk Is Buncombe

"ALL THIS SCARE TALK OF IMPENDING WAR BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND JAPAN IS MERE BUNCOMBE STARTED BY SENSATION SEEKERS WHO EITHER DO NOT FULLY COMPREHEND THE SITUATION OR WHO WILLFULLY MISINTERPRET IT," DECLARED ADMIRAL EVANS IN EMPHATICALLY CONVINCING TONES.

"JAPAN HAS ALL SHE CAN ATTEND TO, IN PREPARING FOR ANOTHER WAR WITH RUSSIA. THE RUSSIAN BEAR DOES NOT PROPOSE TO MEEKLY SUFFER THE INDIGNITY OF HAVING ITS TAIL TWISTED BY THE JAPS WITHOUT AN ATTEMPT AT RETALIATION. EVEN NOW, RUSSIA IS PREPARING FOR THE INEVITABLE CONFLICT BY REBUILDING ITS NAVY, REGENERATING ITS ARMY AND CONSTRUCTING ITS GREAT DOUBLE-TRACK RAILWAY ACROSS SIBERIA. RUSSIA WILL NEVER BE SATISFIED UNTIL SHE WHIPS THE JAPS OR GOES DOWN INTO DEFEAT THAT WILL ADMIT OF NO RECOVERY.

PARTY POLITICS TO BE ELIMINATED FROM ELECTIONS

Charter Convention Provides for Direct Nominations, Barring All Insignia on Ballot.

25 SIGNERS TO PETITION

Initiative and Referendum Reports, Fixing 15 Per Cent in Each Case, Also Adopted

Holding an unusually long session the charter convention yesterday completed its consideration of the report of the committee on initiative and referendum, which it adopted practically without change, and also discussed and adopted all but the last three sections of the report of the elections committee. These three sections, which will be taken up at today's session, concern corrupt practices at election, use of carriages for hauling voters to the polls, etc.

The convention will meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The alternative report of the committee on public health and sanitation, together with other reports, will be considered.

A resolution submitted by Dr. H. W. Hoagland requiring railroads, factories, power and heating plants, etc., to use smoke consumers, was referred yesterday to the committee on public health and sanitation, of which Dr. Hoagland is chairman.

Ban on Party Politics.

Following the policy announced in a previously-adopted resolution, the convention yesterday placed the ban on party politics in this city. The elections report, practically all of which was considered and adopted, provides that "no ballot shall have printed thereon any party or political designation or mark, and there shall not be appended to the name of any candidate any such party or political designation or mark, or anything indicating his views or opinions." The report provides that nominations shall be made by not less than 25 individual certificates, the form of which is outlined. Each signer to a certificate must certify that he believes the candidate named therein has not become a candidate as the nominee or representative of, or because of any promised support from any political party or any committee or convention representing or acting for any political party.

Must Have a Majority

Furthermore, every candidate, in filing his acceptance, which must be within five days of the filing of his nomination, must make affidavit to the above. Another important provision is that a majority of votes is necessary to elect, so that if there are three or more candidates in the field a plurality will not elect, as under the pres-

TRAFFIC TIED UP NEAR WASHINGTON

EFFECTS OF STORM WILL BE FELT FOR 24 HOURS.

Thousands of Men at Work Repairing Damage to Electric Wires, Which Are Prostrated

NEW YORK, March [illegible]. Train service between this city and Washington was still badly tied up today. Trains were few and far between, running generally from five to six hours behind the schedule. Little parties of those who went from this city to attend the inauguration, straggled in with all sorts of stories of hardships. Traffic out of Washington, they reported, was seriously muddled, and there was little hope of relief for 24 hours or more.

Passengers on one particularly belated train told of making 40 miles in 10 hours. During the first three hours only seven miles were covered, each run of 100 yards or so being followed by a prolonged stop. There was no dining car on the train and sandwiches commanded fabulous prices.

BALTIMORE, March 5.—It is estimated that at least 100 miles of electric wires lie prostrated within the limits of the city as a result of yesterday's storm. More than 500 poles are down.

The monetary loss is estimated at $270,000, not including the loss of receipts to telephone, telegraph, electric power companies and railroads.

Thousands of men have been working all day in a desperate endeavor to repair the damage.

Annapolis is a mass of tangled electric, telegraph and telephone wires.

PHILADELPHIA, March 5.—The Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio railroad officials stated tonight that train service between this city and Washington is still considerably hampered. Conditions grew worse at night, [illegible] owing to inability of the engineers to gauge the distance they are from the [illegible] preceding them.

[illegible] delay is largely due to the unusual congestion of traffic between Baltimore and Washington.

MRS. WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT
The First Lady of the Land.

LIQUOR INTERESTS BEHIND AMENDMENT

TO PRACTICALLY NULLIFY THE ANTISALOON ACTION.

Its Passage by Legislature Would Probably Result in Open Sale of Whisky

Acting in conjunction with the same interests in Denver and other cities, the liquor interests of Colorado Springs, through Representative Olds, introduced in the house some time ago House bill No. [illegible], a proposed amendment to the antisaloon territory act. This amendment, if passed, will not only practically nullify any act of the people in creating antisaloon territory, but will actually permit druggists to sell intoxicating liquors to any one in the city without a physician's prescription. The bill has been printed and referred to the house committee on temperance. It is said to be unconstitutional by reason of its wording, and there is little prospect that it will pass.

Must Keep Record

The amendment provides that it shall be good defense in any prosecution under the regime to show that the sale of liquor was at retail by a regularly licensed pharmacist for exclusively known medicinal purposes. The only restriction is that the druggist shall keep a record of the name of the purchaser, date of sale, quantity sold, for what purpose sold, and name of seller.

A prominent citizen of Colorado Springs yesterday said:

"The only redeeming feature of this proposed bill is its absurdity and unconstitutionality, so that it not only has little chance to pass, but will probably be declared invalid if it is passed. Under its provisions every 'Happy Hooligan' or 'Shorty King,' or any of the frequent offenders in police court, can go into a drug store, which will not pay a city liquor license, and buy whisky 'for medicinal purposes.' The druggist may sell him the liquor, provided he enters the transaction on a book."

The Bill in Full

The bill is as follows:

"A bill for an act to amend section 14 of an act entitled 'An act to provide for the creation by popular vote of antisaloon territory, within which the keeping and the sale of intoxicating liquors and the licensing of such keeping and sale shall be prohibited, and for the abolition by like means of territory so created, and to regulate the keeping and sale of such intoxicating liquors within such territory and to provide penalties for violation thereof, and to repeal all acts

NOTHING BUT TARIFF WILL BE CONSIDERED

TAFT WILL ISSUE CALL FOR SPECIAL SESSION.

Will Leave Matter of Rates to Lawmakers. New Administration Starts Off Smoothly

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The Taft administration took its first stride today.

The President named his cabinet, the senate confirmed his selections and its members will take the oath of office tomorrow, with the exception of George W. Wickersham, who was sworn in as attorney general today, and of Messrs. Dickinson and MacVeagh, whose personal affairs will not permit of their reaching Washington for a week or more.

President Taft and the Republican members of the ways and means committee held an important conference during the day. The committee framed a tariff bill which it is understood contains a provision for an inheritance tax, one of the suggestions for raising revenues contained in the inaugural address of President Taft. President Taft told the committee there would be no delay in the official proclamation calling the extra session of Congress on March 15. His message, he said, would recommend that it confine its work exclusively to tariff revision, that there might be no unnecessary delay in enacting this most important law. He would, he said, not discuss in this message any details of tariff revision, leaving all such matters entirely to the judgment of Congress.

Aside from these important accomplishments, President Taft gave himself up heartily to the demands of his friends and thousands of inaugural visitors who wished to shake hands with him.

Philander C. Knox was the first caller on President Taft in the White House. A 15-minute interview Mr. Knox said had its importance, but not for publication. He was rejoicing that since noon yesterday, when his resignation as a senator became effective, he was simply a private citizen. His rejoicing, however, was brief, since before the day was much older he had been nominated and confirmed as secretary of state. The congratulations and good wishes of Cuba were extended in the form of a memorial presented by General Demetrio Castillo Duany, who came to the United States for that purpose.

The reviewing stand for the inaugural parade was again occupied by President Taft this morning, when he took his place there to do honor to the "crack" Seventh regiment, New York Infantry.

The Blaine club of Cincinnati followed. And then too the public availed itself of the handshaking matinee which kept the big mansion in a state of animation throughout the day.

Fred W. Carpenter took the [illegible] secretary to the [illegible]; Wendell W. Mischler, who has been Mr. Taft's assistant [illegible], was made one of Mr. Carpenter's assistants; T. M. Hendricks of Mr. Taft's clerical force, was given a clerkship and William [illegible], who for years has been Mr. Taft's [illegible] in the war department, [illegible] to duty on Mr. Carpenter's desk.

WASHINGTON POLICE CAPTAIN SHOT BY MEMBER OF FORCE

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Captain W. H. Mathews of the Fifth police precinct in this city was shot and killed while sitting at his desk in the station house tonight by Policeman Collier. Without the slightest warning, Collier entered the station and went immediately into the captain's office, where he jerked from his pocket a revolver and fired five bullets into Mathews's body.

Collier, it is said, had been reprimanded by Captain Mathews for a breach of the rules, and this at the time angered him. The police say they know of no other reason for Collier's action. Lieutenant Sprinkle arrested Collier and placed him in a cell.

STORM WARNINGS DISPLAYED

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Storm warnings are displayed on the Pacific coast from San Francisco to Eureka. The weather bureau announces that a cold wave will appear over the British northwest territory Saturday, extend over the plains states Sunday and cross the central valleys, the lake region and the Atlantic states Sunday night and Monday. This will be followed by an energetic disturbance that will cross the continent, March 7 to 10.

BARELA HOLDS SEAT IN SENATE BY THE VOTE OF BODY

Discussion of Election Committee's Report Consumes Greater Part of Day in Upper House.

Las Animas Senator Addresses Colleagues, Declaring His Election Was Legal in Every Respect

Special to The Gazette.

DENVER, March 5.—Senator Barela holds his seat, but has much to answer for if he is really responsible for all of the debate in the senate today over his election contest. A charity view as far as Barela is concerned is a criminating [illegible] as against the rest of the senate, for maybe the all day discussion was merely a part of the general [illegible] by that body. When the reports of the election committee were taken up in the morning, an agreement was made that the discussion would terminate at 2 o'clock, [illegible] directly [illegible] when 2 o'clock came, Senators Burdsell, [illegible] that [illegible]. Do you mean to [illegible] that a superintendent, holding his job from the president, will work against the wishes of that president and [illegible] the task to do so?"

Senator O'Connell, among other things, said there was a movement through the state to compel the senate to unseat Barela as a Democratic measure and that threats were made of what would happen to Democrats who voted against it. He would take his share of the blame gladly.

Senator De Long also made a [illegible] address.

ALBERT ROLLESTONE, EIGHT YEARS OLD, RUN OVER AND KILLED BY HEAVY WAGON

Falling from a heavily loaded wagon, on which he was riding in the 1400 block on North Nevada avenue yesterday at noon, Albert Rollestone, the 8-year-old son of A. A. Rollestone, cashier of the Cripple Creek State bank and of the Bank of Victor, and prominent in political and mining circles in the Cripple Creek district, was run over by both wheels of the vehicle, and died at his home, 18 West Caramillo street, four hours later.

"Be sure and don't alarm mother. I'm not hurt much," the little fellow said, struggling bravely against the pain when he was picked up a few seconds after the accident. He was taken home, and at 3 o'clock lost consciousness, dying at 4 o'clock.

FAIRBANKS WILL BECOME TRAVELER

EX-VICE PRESIDENT PROPOSES TO TAKE TRIP ABROAD.

"Human Icicle" Is Warm-Hearted and a Slave to Duty, Hoskin Gives Interesting Facts.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

As if it were not enough that a globe trotter should come into the presidency as another one goes out Mr Fairbanks has added to the situation by his decision to become a traveler Altogether it constitutes such a travel record as the nation never saw before, and may not see again in a hundred years Mr Fairbanks can well afford to take his trip Born a poor boy, he has kept everlastingly at it in the way that brings success and he finds himself a comparatively rich man His children are all grown and married, and he has seen them safely established before he has come within hailing distance of 60 Mr Fairbanks will probably return to Indianapolis after his trip abroad and there settle down to the management of his estates and to the life of an affluent lawyer. Whether he will return to politics is not known but many of his friends believe that he will.

Warm-Hearted Man

There is perhaps no other man in the United States as different from the popular conception as Fairbanks Represented as being the great human icicle, he is in truth one of the most kindly and warm-hearted of men. Even to the person he meets casually he returns as warm a greeting as anyone could wish. His devotion to duty is not known to the country at large as it is to those who know him well. Last spring when the campaign for the presidential nomination was on, Mr. Fairbanks might naturally have desired to go into the field and promote his candidacy for the presidential nomination If he had gone no one could have suffered thereby, as there is always a president pro tempore of the Senate but he felt that presiding over that body was more his duty than drumming up delegates for himself So he stayed at his post from start to finish. He did not win the nomination for President, but he proved his faithfulness to his constitutional task

There are now four living ex-vice presidents Charles W Fairbanks, Theodore Roosevelt, Adlai Stevenson and Levi P. Morton. The story of how a half dozen men deliberately turned down the nomination for vice president on the McKinley ticket in 1900, and thereby lost the presidency that fell to Theodore Roosevelt, is still familiar to all, as is the story of Mr Roosevelt's having the place forced upon him in an effort to get him out of the New York political situation Mr Roosevelt is the only vice president ever elected President, if we except a few in the early days of the republic

Stevenson Has Remarkable Career.

Perhaps no other American citizen who has reached the vice presidency has had a more remarkable career thereafter than Adlai Stevenson recent Democratic candidate for governor of Illinois Since the Civil war he has been the only vice president who was later nominated for the same position Thomas A Hendricks was nominated for the place in 1876, and again in 1884 He was defeated along with Tilden in the former year, but was elected in the latter campaign In this he reverses the experience of Stevenson entirely Stevenson was first elected then retired to private life, and after four years was again called out as the party candidate, this time to lose

Stevenson is still a strong factor in the Democracy, one who has kept out of factional entanglements to such a degree as to make it not entirely improbable that other things may come his way before his eventful life is at an end As the axe man of the second Cleveland administration he made a lasting record as an official decapitator To him is due largely the start which landed Cortelyou in the second place in the President's cabinet--Cortelyou was his stenographer while he was assistant postmaster general

Position Often Vacant

The vice presidency has been vacant much of the time since the Civil war The assassination of Lincoln brought Vice President Johnson into the presidential chair and left a vacancy in the lower position The assassination of Garfield called Mr Arthur to the higher station and the second place was again vacant through nearly the whole of the term for which Garfield was elected It was again filled when Cleveland's first vice president Thomas A Hendricks qualified But he was soon stricken, and died at the very outset of his term Thus except for two brief intervals the second office of the land was vacant for eight years together It was the first time in the history of the vice presidency that such a thing had happened but it was not to be the last

With conditions but slightly reversed the same thing occurred later. Garrett A Hobart vice president under the first McKinley administration died before half the term had passed leaving a vacancy during the remaining years of that administration The second McKinley administration was also doomed to lose its vice president. The assassination of the President at Buffalo elevated Mr Roosevelt to the presidential office, and again there was a vacancy for nearly four years From this it will be seen that for thirteen years out of the twenty-eight since Garfield's administration began, the nation has been without a vice president.

Deaths in Office.

There was still a sixth time that the vice presidency has been vacant since the Civil war Henry Wilson, vice president on the second Grant ticket was a shoemaker in his early days and was known as the Natick Cobbler" He died, after having served one-half of his term, in the vice president's room at the Capitol John Quincy Adams, a former President, died in the office of the clerk of the House, while serving as a member of that body. Thus, a President and a vice president have died in that historic building William A Wheeler and Schuyler Colfax retired to private life after their terms Colfax became vice president of a large Indiana manufacturing concern.

The honor of serving two terms as vice president has fallen to but few men John Adams was the first of these having served through both Washington administrations Jefferson served but one term as did Aaron Burr Burr tried to cheat Jefferson out of the presidency but failed, after the House had cast 36 ballots In 1804 he became the Democratic candidate for governor of New York, and in the same year mortally wounded Alexander Hamilton in a duel on the New Jersey heights across the river from New York city He attempted to stir a revolution in the Mississippi valley and was tried for treason therefor of which charge he was acquitted He then fled to Europe to escape prosecution and his creditors but returned to New York in 1812 where he practiced law until his death in 1836.

George Clinton was the second vice president to serve two terms and the first to serve under two Presidents —Jefferson and Madison He was the first President or vice president to die in office The very next vice president Elbridge Gerry, died after serving less than half of his term Daniel Tompkins got two terms on his own merit serving during both the Monroe administrations He died shortly after the inauguration of his successor who was John C Calhoun Calhoun served under John Quincy Adams and Andrew Jackson resigning his position under Jackson to become a senator from South Carolina. This seems to be the only instance where a vice president has resigned to accept a position in the body of which he was hitherto the presiding officer

Calhoun's Career Distinguished

Calhoun had about the most distinguished career of any of the vice presidents who failed to become President He held a number of important positions thereafter, among them the secretaryship of state Martin Van Buren was the last vice president who became President by vote of the people, if Theodore Roosevelt be excepted The latter is the only vice president who was re-elected to the presidency after having reached that station through the death of his predecessor

George M Dallas served in the diplomatic service as minister to Great Britain during the Buchanan administration and died in Philadelphia a few years later Millard Fillmore was the Native American candidate for President three years after his retirement from the presidency but was defeated He commanded the home guard during the Civil war Hannibal Hamlin became a United States senator from Maine after leaving the vice presidency William R King vice president with Pierce was the only vice president to take the oath of office on foreign soil, having been sworn in at Havana, Cuba

R M Johnson vice president under Van Buren, affords a pleasing example of how a man may grace a minor position after having played a major role After being vice president he came to the Senate from Kentucky, was defeated for re-election, and then went to the state legislature. Johnson is the only vice president who was chosen to that position by the Senate The vote for vice president scattered so widely that no candidate had a majority, and the Senate chose him

It is not generally known, but in spite of the fact that a constitutional amendment was adopted to insure the selection of a President and a vice president of the same political faith it is yet possible to have them of opposing parties Suppose as has often happened the Senate and the House were of different political complexion Then suppose there was a third party in the field strong enough to prevent any party from getting a majority of the electoral vote a thing which might be accomplished by the electoral vote of a single state going to the third party Under these conditions the House would elect the President and the Senate the vice president, and of course each branch would choose a man of its own faith.

A TALE OF TAPE

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger

Two telephone girls were talking over the wire one afternoon The subject of the conversation was a lawn party which was to take place the next day Both were discussing what they should wear, and after five minutes had come to no decision

In the midst of this important conversation a masculine voice interrupted, asking humbly what number he had The lack of any reply did not squelch the inquirer, for he asked for the number

One of the girls became indignant, and scornfully asked

"What line do you think you are on, anyhow?"

"Well," said the man I am not sure, but judging from what I heard I should say I was on a clothesline

"RUSSIA AND JAPAN PREPARING FOR WAR"

NER AND TO MY OPINION, MANAGED THE AFFAIR BEAUTIFULLY. THE RESULT IS SHOWN BY THE FACT THAT DURING THE LAST MONTH, 3,000 MORE JAPANESE LEFT THE COUNTRY THAN CAME INTO IT. THE WAR AGITATION IS KEPT STIRRING BY YINGO PARTIES IN AMERICA AND JAPAN AND IS NOT GIVEN SERIOUS CONSIDERATION BY CONSERVATIVE PEOPLE OF EITHER NATION."

Eulogizes Roosevelt.

Admiral Evans eulogized former President Roosevelt as one of the greatest Presidents the United States has ever had, and spoke appreciately of Roosevelt's policy in maintaining a strong navy.

President Taft's inaugural declaration of continuing the Roosevelt policy with regard to the navy found approval with Admiral Evans, who said he believed Taft will be a great President.

"American ships, American men, and American machinery," he said, "are to be relied upon in any emergency. They constitute a real military force of which the nation may well be proud."

"NO SIR, I DO NOT BELIEVE IN BLOODLESS WARS," HE DECLARED. "I BELIEVE IN THE MAINTENANCE OF A LARGE NAVY TO PROTECT US. THERE WILL NEVER BE A BLOODLESS WAR BECAUSE THEY NEVER END. THE ONLY THING THAT STOPS WAR IS KILLING PEOPLE, AND THE MORE YOU KILL THE QUICKER IT ENDS."

Why He Joined the Navy.

"Why did I join the navy. Well, sir, I joined the navy because I had a hankering for the sea when I was a little boy. I moved out to Utah and received an appointment at Annapolis in 1859. At that time the entrance examinations were not as heavy as they are now. I came out of the school an officer and have been one ever since.

"Yes, I believe there is as good a chance today for a man to work up from the ranks to the position of an officer. There are twelve appointments made every year from men picked out of the ranks for their qualifications.

"The navy affords a splendid opportunity for an industrial education. Every trade is practiced on shipboard. After four years' service he comes out a practical mechanic. It comes hard for some young fellows raised up tenderly to do the manual labor on board a ship; but it comes hard for a man to do his duty under many circumstances in life. There is no better training for a boy who wants to join the navy and who cannot be disciplined in school. He learns that he has a boss, and after he gets a thorough training under a real boss he can go out and do some bossing himself.

United States Leads All.

"Well, I should say that the English more nearly approach our methods of training and for this reason are more worthy of our mettle than any other world power. But the United States has no equal in its methods of training. It has the best training school for officers in the world at Annapolis, as is generally acknowledged. And its training school for the men is also the best in the world.

"The cruise of the fleet around the world placed the United States where it belongs among the most efficient in the world. It indicates to the world that it is not all show, but the real thing. It was a great experience, and Roosevelt deserves praise for bringing it about.

"A great deal of criticism is poured on the navy. Yes, I'll venture to say that if you would put 15,000 college students in any city after the graduation exercises, that there would be all the excitement and fun you would want in a year. As a class the sailors are well behaved and a truly set of men."

Admiral Evans said he always hated to see a man killed in action, but in the excitement of battle one does not pay much attention to such things.

Will Return to Washington.

"I expect to return to Washington about May 10, after completing this lecture tour. I had thought some of going into business at Los Angeles, but may change my plans.

Admiral and Mrs. Evans traveled in the most democratic manner in a Pullman car from Topeka to Colorado Springs, and upon arrival here were taken to the Antlers hotel in a carriage. Mrs. Nina E. Zively of 22 East Columbia street, a cousin of Admiral Evans, (not a sister, as generally supposed here), met the party at the depot.

The ladies were conversing in the reception room of the Evans apartments, when Mrs. Evans, impressed by the grandeur of Pikes Peak, called the Admiral to the window.

"Yes," he observed, jocularly, "I can distinguish all objects on the summit. There is the observatory with windows boarded up, the railroad tracks covered with snow and a sign on the building. Pretty good eyesight for an old man, isn't it."

This stern warrior shows his gentler side in his love for little children. They flock to him in the hotel corridors and when they are gathered about he tells them many wonderful tales of his travels across the seas to faraway lands.

Only Coward He Ever Saw.

To older folks, he loves to tell the story of the only coward he ever saw in the naval force of Uncle Sam.

It was at the Fort Fisher attack. Young Bob was wounded in both knees and was unable to stir from the loss of blood. When he landed on the ground, he was thrown across the body of a man buried in the sand. At first he was conscious of nothing under him, so completely had the fellow buried himself. But as the monitors were firing and shells would pass over them, he felt something under him and found that the under dog drew up his legs to his chin at every shot. This hurt the wounded Bob and he told him to stop.

"Hello," said Bob, "are you hurt?"

"No, sir," came the reply. "I am afraid to move."

"Then lie still and don't hurt me again," and the poor fellow lay still and cried at every shot.

Evans' First Duel.

Admiral Evans' first duel was a duel to the death and was fought out in the open in the midst of battle.

It was at Fort Fisher, and the plucky little Yankee cadet had been hit twice by the bullets of a Confederate officer on the fort. As the second ball came crashing through the boy's knee he determined to give one more in return before he was too faint from loss of blood. Rolling over, Evans addressed a few words to the assailant, and taking aim, shot him through the heart, and fainted from the effects of his own wounds. Admiral Evans does not deny this, but refuses to discuss the incident.

The admiral has had many engagements on land and sea. He has fought as a member of the crew, as the chief officer of the ship and as the chief of the fleet, but none of the many bloody scenes with which his life is punctuated seems half so real to him as this, his first duel.

Is a Typical Sailorman.

Robley D. Evans hauled down his flag after 48 years of service, when the American fleet had finished its great review in San Francisco harbor. One of the most typically "sailormen" careers in the history of the United States then terminated.

For Evans is a sailorman. There are strategists, professors, commanders, heroes, and everything else, but Evans is a sailorman. He might have been one of Captain Marryat's heroes. There is something incongruous about the steam and steel of his ships, when one looks at their commander. He is thoroughly up to date to the last inch of him, and yet he seems to belong back in the days of the first David Porter.

All in all, there is not an officer in the navy who has ever had such a grip on his men and his ships. When he was at Kiel in 1895, attending the opening of the Kiel canal, the German emperor came aboard and put him through a course of sprouts. For instance, when the emperor asked him how long it would take him to close all water-tight doors and Evans said it could be done in two minutes, the emperor astounded Evans by asking him to do it himself. Evans tried to blow the siren, but there was not steam enough and it would not blow.

Applauded by the Kaiser.

"Aha!" said the kaiser, grinning with delight, "you can't close your bulkheads!"

Evans touched a general alarm button, and in an instant the men were swarming up. In one minute and a half—by the emperor's watch, for Wilhelm held the time on Evans himself—the doors were closed and the ship ready for action. This was at 2 o'clock in the morning, and the emperor hurled bouquets at Evans until the air turned red.

"Captain Evans," said the kaiser, as he quit the ship, after a thorough investigation, "I cannot imagine that a ship could be in better condition."

When Evans went into action he always, though sometimes unconsciously, let everybody know it.

"I'll make h—— smell of garlic when I get down there!" he said when he was ordered to Chile during the war scare of 1891. "I'll make Spanish the only language spoken in h——," he announced when he was ordered to Cuba at the beginning of the Spanish war.

One of Marryat's Heroes.

In these ladylike days such a sea captain may be out of date. One of Marryat's heroes would have talked just that way. Now we require our sailors to follow the example of George Washington and are "leery" of a hero who talks. But it is totally wrong, and Evans has proved it. He can bluster and bluster, and yet be the most efficient seaman, the best commander, the most cautious and yet ready commander on the naval list; and he has done it.

This reckless habit of speech was born in him, though it has been moderated somewhat of late years, largely as the result of the unmerciful scoring he got from Isidor Rayner, now senator from Maryland, in 1901, as a result of his boastful line of talk about his prowess at Santiago.

He was a Virginian to begin with and has never ceased to be one. When the Civil war broke out, and the young southerners in the service were called upon to make their choice between state and nation, Evans followed the course of Thomas and not that of Lee. He went with the old flag. His mother, a Virginian to the core, was utterly disgusted and humiliated when she learned his intention.

She sent his resignation to the war department at Washington and it was accepted. Evans learned of it and pulled all the wires known to man trying to get back into the service. He got back and then his family washed their hands of him.

About a year after the war broke out, Evans on leave, entered an oyster house in Washington and saw a tall, handsome young fellow, who looked at him and gave a violent start. It was Evans' brother, a Confederate officer.

Oysters Save His Brother.

The "rebel" Evans knew that his brother would give him into custody if he stayed there another moment. He also knew that Bob would give him a chance for his white alley. He walked rapidly out of the place, while his Union brother sat down and began to eat oysters.

The Union Evans ate his oysters as slowly as he could, cutting every oyster into small pieces, and when the last one was gone he went out and informed the provost guard that a rebel officer was in town and that in all probability his skiff was to be found at such-and-such a place. The skiff was there, sure enough, but the Confederate Evans had just pulled out. He afterward told Bob that he had the narrowest squeeze of his life and that if Bob had eaten one oyster less he would have been caught.

Later on, when Robley Evans was ordered on the cruise to Fort Fisher, which has made him walk lame ever since, the destination of the fleet was kept a complete secret from everybody aboard. The first that Evans knew of where they were going was the following letter from his brother, sent in under a flag of truce:

"We will give you a warm reception at Fort Fisher."

There is one anecdote about Fighting Bob which seldom finds its way into print. In the old days of "stick and string ships," Evans was stationed on the European squadron on one of the old-time frigates. Every night at sundown the yards were made secure for the night. There was an intense rivalry among the various crews in the matter of this nightly drill and it was young Evans' pride that he had the fastest crew in the fleet.

A great deal depended on one man who was stationed aloft. This bluejacket was the pivot on which the whole thing turned, and on the quickness of his hand and the accuracy of his eye, the ship won or lost the nightly race. Evans often remarked that he would back his particular bluejacket against any man in the United States navy.

Rigorous Discipline.

One evening this man, in his haste to beat the flagship, overreached himself and with one despairing grab at the rigging, fell 80 feet into the water of the bay. He narrowly escaped striking the rail, which would have meant almost certain death.

Evans barked an order and another bluejacket sprang to complete the task, but the ship had been beaten. Evans was very angry. He met the bluejacket as he came dripping up the ladder.

"Three days in the brig for you!" said Evans.

"Why — why" — gasped the half drowned sailor, "what for, sir?"

"For leaving the ship without permission," snapped Evans.

Today and Last Week.

Society will greet Admiral Evans at the Opera House this evening, a number of box parties having been planned. Among those who have secured boxes for the evening are: Mrs. James T. ROOT CHIEF JUSTICE U.S. SUPREME COURT?

NOTHING WOULD PLEASE PRESIDENT TAFT MORE.

New Chief Executive Will Appoint Former Secretary of State to Fill Fuller's Place, if Satisfactory.

By Shaldon S. Cline,
Special to The Gazette.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Elihu Root of New York will be the next chief justice of the United States supreme court—provided Mr. Root will accept the appointment at the hands of Mr. Taft. He has told friends that were he able to make Root chief justice he would regard it as the crowning act of his administration.

It is well known that Mr. Taft's life ambition was to sit on the supreme court bench, and until the little presidential bee began its buzzing he had looked upon the chief justiceship as the most exalted place to which mortal might aspire. It is not surprising then, that he wants a man of large caliber to place in the seat now occupied by Chief Justice Fuller. The latter is long past the age of retirement, and it is well understood that he will not remain on the bench throughout Mr. Taft's term in the White House.

At a banquet in New York a few nights ago Mr. Taft said that he believed that Root instead of Taft should have succeeded to the presidency. No man ever paid another a higher compliment, and the compliment was a peculiarly graceful one because of the well-known fact that Mr. Root aspired to the nomination last year, but gave way to Taft because he believed the latter would make the strongest candidate. If Mr. Taft, having been elected to the place which Mr. Root wanted, should appoint Mr. Root to the position which Taft himself wanted, it would be an unusual demonstration of the capriciousness of fate.

Would Not Accept?

Whether Mr. Root would accept the chief justiceship is not known except possibly to a few of his intimates, and Mr. Root has few intimates. When he was elected senator from New York there was very widespread belief that he hoped the senatorship would lead to the presidential nomination four or eight years hence. There isn't chance, though, that he will oppose Taft for the nomination in 1912, and in 1916 Mr. Root will be 72 years old. Under such circumstances it would not be surprising if the chief justiceship appealed to the New York senator.

"What shall be done with Garfield?" appears almost as vexatious a problem to some people as the old query, "What shall we do with our ex-presidents?" About every position within the gift of President Taft has been picked for Mr. Roosevelt's secretary of the interior, but so far none of them has materialized. All the early cabinet slates put forth by Mr. Taft's enthusiastic volunteer assistants contained the name of Garfield, but he was dropped out of cabinet making about a month ago. Since then he has been reported as slated for almost everything on the list of presidential plums, from ambassador down.

About the only one who doesn't seem to be worried by the "Jimmie" Garfield matter is Mr. Garfield himself. The executive isn't often mistaken now, but he became Mr. Secretary Garfield that if he carried out his announced intention of returning to Ohio to practice law people probably will get to calling him "Jimmie" again. Perhaps this would not be altogether displeasing to Mr. Garfield, as it is not likely he has put behind him all further political ambitions, and if he is going to look to the people for preferment it isn't a bad start to be known as "Jim" or "Bill" or "Teddy."

Job Picked Out for Garfield.

The secretaryship of the navy was the cabinet berth the state-makers originally picked out for Garfield. He didn't get the place, but the fact that he didn't serves to call attention to the fact that Ohio has never furnished a secretary of the navy. Except for the comparatively new departments of agriculture and commerce and labor, this is the only cabinet portfolio Ohio men have not filled. There have been only four secretaries of agriculture and only three of commerce and labor. Ohio men have filled other portfolios as follows: Secretary of state, three; secretary of the treasury, five; secretary of war, six; secretary of the interior, four; postmaster general, three; attorney general, four. This has been considerable comment on the fact that Mr. Taft begins his administration with no Ohio man in his cabinet. This is not especially remarkable, however, in view of the fact that Garfield did not have an Ohio member of his official family. Of the three other Ohio Presidents, William Henry Harrison had Thomas Ewing as his secretary of the treasury, Hayes had John Sherman on the same portfolio, and McKinley had three Ohio secretaries of state, John Sherman, William B. Day and John Hay.

If there is any foundation for the report that President Roosevelt will appoint Senator Hemenway of Indiana commissioner of pensions it will be an unusual selection for a Republican President to make. It has been one of the crying sins of the Republican party that this position should go to an old soldier, and as Senator Hemenway was only one year old when Sumter was fired upon he does not qualify for that class.

PARTY POLITICS TO BE ELIMINATED

ent law. As to any office not so filled by majority vote, the first election shall be deemed a primary election as regards the office still unfilled, and the two highest candidates for each office so unfilled shall be candidates at a second election.

The Elections Report.

The report as adopted is as follows:

Elections—General and Special Municipal Elections.

1. A municipal election shall be held in the city on the first Tuesday of .... in 1909, and on the first Tuesday of April in 1911, and on the first Tuesday in April of every second year thereafter and shall be known as the general municipal election.

A second election shall be held when necessary as provided in section .... of this charter, on the second Tuesday after said general municipal election and shall be known as the second general municipal election. All other municipal elections that may be held by authority of this charter or of general law shall be known as special municipal elections.

Registration.

2. No person shall be permitted to vote at any municipal election, without having been registered as required by the provisions of this article.

3. The city clerk shall, as soon as may be, after each general state election, secure from the county clerk of El Paso county a copy of the registration lists of the electors of the city of Colorado Springs registered for that election.

4. For municipal elections no new registration shall be required, except as hereinafter provided, but any qualified elector of the city whose name is on the registration lists used at the then last preceding general state election, and who still resides at the place designated in his said registration, shall be deemed properly registered for any such election; and additional registration and changes in registration may be made as hereinafter provided.

5. On the fourteenth day preceding any general municipal election the city clerk shall deliver to the registration committee of each election precinct the proper registration list, and on the tenth day preceding the election thus to be held, or if that day be a legal holiday or a Sunday, then on the succeeding day, the registration committee for each precinct shall sit from 9 o'clock a. m. until 9 o'clock p. m. at some suitable place within the precinct, to be provided by the city clerk, and shall place on said registration lists the names of all qualified electors of that precinct who are not registered and who shall present themselves for registration and comply with the requirements prescribed by the general registration laws of the state.

6. Before any special municipal election held for any purpose any qualified elector whose name does not appear upon the registration list by presenting himself for registration at the office of the city clerk between the hours of 9 o'clock a. m. and 9 o'clock p. m., on the tenth day preceding the election thus to be held, or if that day be a legal holiday or a Sunday, then on the succeeding day, and by complying with the requirements prescribed by the general registration laws of the state.

7. Any qualified elector whose name appears upon said registration list, but who has removed from the precinct in which he is registered to some other precinct, may appear before the city clerk at any time within five days prior to any municipal election and, upon making oath in writing as to his then present residence, said city clerk shall draw a line in red ink through the registration of such person, making a note as follows: "Changed .... 19.... to precinct .... ward ...." inserting the date and number of precinct and ward therein, and shall register in red ink such person in the registration list for the precinct in which such person then resides; and a change of residence within the same precinct may be made in like manner. The city clerk or deputy making such change shall sign his name in the column provided for the signatures of the registration committee, and the person so registered shall also sign his name as in the case of an original registration.

8. The registration committee and the judges and the clerks of election shall be the same as are now or may hereafter be provided by the general laws of the state.

Nomination and Election of City Officers.

10. The mode of nomination and election of all elective officers of the city to be voted for at any municipal election shall be as follows and not otherwise:

Condition of Candidacy.

11. —The name of a candidate shall be printed upon the ballot when a petition of nomination shall have been filed in his behalf in the manner and form and under the conditions hereinafter set forth.

Form of Nomination Petition.

12. The petition of nomination shall consist of not less than 25 individual certificates, which shall read substantially as follows:

PETITION OF NOMINATION

Individual Certificate.

State of Colorado, County of El Paso, City of Colorado Springs, ss.

I do hereby join in a petition for the nomination of ...., whose residence is at No. .... street, Colorado Springs, for the office of .... to be voted for at the municipal election to be held in the city of Colorado Springs on the .... day of .... 19.... and I certify that I am a qualified elector and am not at this time a signer of any other certificate nominating any other candidate for the above-named office, or, in case there are several places to be filled in the above-named office, that I have not signed more certificates than there are places to be filled in the above-named office, that my residence is at No. .... street, Colorado Springs.

I further certify that I join in this petition for the nomination of the above-named person believing that he has not become a candidate as the nominee or representative of or because of any promised support from any political party or any committee or convention representing or acting for any political party.

(Signed) ....

State of Colorado, County of El Paso, City of Colorado Springs, ss.

.... being first duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the person who signed the foregoing certificate and that the statements therein are true.

(Signed) ....

Subscribed and sworn to before me this .... day of .... 19....

My commission expires ....

.... Notary Public.

The petition of nomination of which this certificate forms a part shall, if found insufficient, be returned to .... at No. .... street, Colorado Springs.

Forms to Be Supplied by the City Clerk.

13. It shall be the duty of the city clerk to furnish, upon application, a reasonable number of forms of such individual certificates.

Requirements of Certificate.

14. Each certificate must be a separate paper. All certificates must be of a uniform size as determined by the city clerk. Each certificate must contain the name of one signer and no more. In case an elector has signed two or more conflicting certificates, all such certificates shall be rejected. Each signer must make oath to his certificate before a notary public, substantially in the form prescribed in section 12 of this article.

Date of Presenting Petition.

15. A petition of nomination, consisting of not less than 25 individual certificates for any one candidate, may be presented to the city clerk not earlier than 30 nor later than 20 days before the election. The clerk shall endorse thereon the date upon which the petition was presented to him.

Examination of Petition by City Clerk.

16. When a petition of nomination is presented for filing to the city clerk he shall forthwith examine the same, and ascertain whether it conforms to the provisions of this article. If found not to conform thereto, he shall then and there in writing designate on said petition the defect or omission or reason why such petition cannot be filed, and shall forthwith return the petition to the person named as the person to whom the same may be returned in accordance with this article. The petition may then be amended and again, but not later than three days after said petition shall have been returned, presented to the clerk as in the first instance. The clerk shall forthwith proceed to examine the petition as hereinbefore provided.

Acceptance and Withdrawal of Candidates.

17. Any person nominated under this section shall file his acceptance with the city clerk within five days from the filing of the petition of nomination, and, in the absence of such acceptance, the name of the candidate shall not appear upon the ballot, and, in said acceptance, he shall make affidavit to the fact that he has not become a candidate as the nominee or representative of, or because of any promised support from, any political party or any committee or convention representing or acting for any political party.

Any person whose name has been presented under this section as a candidate may, not later than 15 days before the day of election, cause his name to be withdrawn from nomination by filing with the city clerk a request therefor in writing, and no name so withdrawn shall be printed upon the ballot.

Filing of Petitions.

18. If either the original or the amended petition of nomination be found sufficiently signed, as hereinbefore provided, the clerk shall file the same forthwith.

Preservation of Petitions.

19. —The city clerk shall preserve in his office for a period of two years all petitions of nomination and all certificates belonging thereto filed under this article.

Election Notices.

20. The clerk shall enter the names of all candidates duly nominated in a list, with the offices to be filled, and shall, on the fourteenth day before the election, certify such list as being the list of candidates nominated as required by the charter of Colorado Springs, and the council shall cause said certified list of names and the offices to be filled, designating whether for a full or unexpired term, to be published in the notice calling the election three successive days before the election in not more than two daily newspapers of general circulation published in the city.

Form of Ballots.

21. The city clerk shall cause the ballots to be printed, bound, numbered, indorsed and authenticated, as provided by state law except as otherwise required in this charter. The ballots shall contain the list of names and the respective offices, as published in the proclamation, and shall be in substantially the following form:

GENERAL (OR SPECIAL) MUNICIPAL ELECTION, CITY OF COLORADO SPRINGS. (Inserting date thereof.)

Instructions to Voters: To vote, place a cross (X) mark with ink in the square opposite the name of the candidate for whom you desire to vote. All distinguishing marks are forbidden and make the ballot void. If you wrongly mark, tear or deface this ballot, return it to the judges of election and obtain another.

Arrangement of Offices on Ballot.

22. The offices to be filled shall be arranged in separate columns in the following order:

"For Mayor (if any), vote for one."

"For Councilman (if any), vote for (given number)."

Space for Voting Cross.

23. Squares shall be provided at the right of the name of each candidate wherein to mark the cross.

Requirements of Ballots.

24. All ballots printed shall be precisely of the same size, quality of paper, kind of type and color of ink, so that without the number it would be impossible to distinguish one ballot from another. A space shall be provided on the ballot for charter amendments or other questions to be voted on at the municipal elections, as provided by this charter. The names of candidates for each office shall be arranged in alphabetical order. Nothing on the ballot shall be indicative of the source of the candidacy or of the support of any candidate. No ballot shall have printed thereon any party or political designation or mark, or anything indicating his views or opinions.

Sample Ballots.

25. The clerk shall at least five days before the election, cause to be printed 500 sample ballots, upon paper of different color, but otherwise identical with the ballots to be used at the election, and shall furnish copies of the same upon application to registered voters at his office.

Vote Necessary for Election.

26. In case there is but one person to be elected to an office, the candidate receiving a majority of the votes cast for all the candidates for that office shall be declared elected; in case there are two or more persons to be elected to an office, then those candidates equal in number to the number to be elected, who receive the highest number of votes for such office shall be declared elected; provided, however, that no person shall be declared elected to any office at such first election unless the number of votes received by him shall be greater than one-half the number of ballots cast at such election.

Second Election.

27. As to any office not so filled by majority vote, said first election shall be deemed a primary election for the nomination of candidates therefor, and a second election shall be held to fill said offices. At said second election the only candidates shall be, if for the office of Mayor, the two persons who at such primary election received the highest number of votes therefor, and, if for the office of councilman, those persons not exceeding twice the number of the office or offices to be filled, who at such primary election received the highest number of votes less than a majority for such office; provided, however, that any person who at such primary election received the same number of votes (for such office) as any person so made a candidate for that office, shall also be a candidate therefor at said second election, and that any candidacy at said second election made vacant by death, withdrawal or otherwise, shall be filled by selection of the person or persons, if more than one, who at said primary election secured the next highest number of votes less than a majority for said office.

At said second election the candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected.

Date of Second Election.

28. The said second election, if necessary to be held, shall be held two weeks after the first election.

Rules Governing Second Election.

29. All the provisions and conditions of this article as to the conduct of an election, so far as they may be applicable, shall govern the second election, except that notice of election shall be published once only, and provided also that the same precincts and polling places shall, if possible, be used.

Informalities in Election.

30. No informalities in conducting municipal elections shall invalidate the same, if they have been conducted fairly and in substantial conformity with the requirements of this charter.

Filed Statement of Expenses.

31. Every candidate who is voted for at any election held within this city shall within 30 days after such election, file an itemized statement showing in detail all the moneys contributed or expended by him, directly or indirectly, by himself or through any other person in aid of his election. Such statement shall give the names of the various persons who received such money and the specific nature of each item and the purpose for which it was expended or contributed. There shall be attached to such statement an affidavit of such candidate, setting forth in substance that the statement thus made is in all respects true, and that the same is a full and detailed statement of all moneys so contributed or expended by him.

The initiative and referendum report, fixing the initiative and referendum percentages each at 15, and providing other comprehensive safeguards for the people, was adopted in its entirety yesterday with only two unimportant amendments. The report in full is as follows:

ARTICLE XIV.—THE INITIATIVE.

Direct Legislation.

1. Any proposed ordinance may be submitted to the Council by petition signed by qualified electors of the city, equal in number to the percentage hereinafter required. The procedure in respect of such petition shall be the same as provided in sections 2 and 3 of article XIII, with such modifications as the nature of the case requires, except that no blank forms shall be furnished or preliminary affidavit made.

Fifteen Per Centum Petition.

2. If the petition accompanying the proposed ordinance be signed by qualified electors equal in number to 15 per centum of the last preceding vote cast for all candidates for Mayor, and contains a request that said proposed ordinance be submitted to a vote of the people, if not passed by the Council, the Council shall, within 20 days after the attachment of the clerk's certificate of sufficiency to the accompanying petition either—

(a) Pass said ordinance without alteration, (subject to the referendary vote under the provisions of section 2 of article XV, or,

(b) Call a special election, unless a general municipal election is fixed within 90 days thereafter, and at such special or general municipal election said proposed ordinance shall be submitted without alteration to the vote of the qualified electors of the city.

Five per centum petition.

Five Per Centum Petition.

3. If the petition be signed by qualified electors equal in number to at least 5 per centum but less than 15 per centum of the last preceding vote cast for all candidates for Mayor and said proposed ordinance is not passed without alteration by the Council within 20 days, as provided in the preceding section, then such proposed ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted by the Council to electoral vote at the next general municipal election occurring not less than thirty days thereafter.

Publication of Electoral Ordinance.

4. Whenever any proposed ordinance is required by this charter to be submitted to the voters of the city at any election, the Council shall cause said proposed ordinance to be published in like manner as other proposed ordinances are required to be published.

Election.

5. The ballots used when voting upon such proposed ordinance shall contain the words, "For the Ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance) and "Against the Ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance). If a majority of the qualified electors voting on said proposed ordinance shall vote in favor thereof, the same shall thereupon become an ordinance of the city.

Several Ordinances at One Election.

6. Any number of proposed ordinances may be voted on at the same election, in accordance with the provisions of this article.

Limit to Special Elections.

7. There shall not be held under this article of the charter, more than one special election in any period of 12 months.

Repeal of Electoral Ordinance.

8. The Council may submit a proposition for the repeal or amendment of any ordinance so adopted by electoral vote, to be voted upon at any succeeding general municipal election, and should such proposition so submitted receive a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, such ordinance shall be repealed or amended accordingly. An ordinance so adopted by electoral vote, cannot be repealed or amended except by electoral vote.

Further Regulations.

9. The Council may, by ordinance, make such further regulations as it may deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XV—THE REFERENDUM.

Mode of Protesting Against Ordinances.

1. No ordinance passed by the Council shall go into effect before ten days from the time of its final passage, except ordinances making tax levy or appropriation, or in respect of a parking or paving district, and excepting also any ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, which contains a statement of its urgency. If, during said ten days, a petition signed by qualified electors of the city equal in number to at least 15 per centum of the last preceding vote cast for all candidates for Mayor be presented to the Council, protesting against the going into effect of such ordinance, the same shall thereupon be suspended from going into effect, and it shall be the duty of the Council to reconsider such ordinance, and if the same be not entirely repealed, the Council shall submit the ordinance, as is provided in article XIV of this charter, to a vote of the qualified electors of the city, either at the next general municipal election or at a special election to be called for that purpose, and such ordinance shall not go into effect unless a majority of the qualified electors voting on the same shall vote in favor thereof. The procedure in respect of such petition shall be the same as provided in sections 2 and 3 of article XIII, with such modifications as the nature of the case requires, except that no blank forms shall be furnished or preliminary affidavit made.

Reference by the Council.

2. The Council may, of its own motion, submit to electoral vote for adoption or rejection at a general or special municipal election any proposed ordinance or measure in the same manner and with the same force and effect as is provided in article XIV. If the provisions of two or more proposed ordinances or measures adopted or approved at the same election conflict, then the ordinance or measure receiving the highest affirmative vote shall control.

Further Regulations.

3. The Council may, by ordinance, make such further regulations as it may deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this article.

Dr. Longland's resolution, which was referred to his committee, is as follows:

"Resolved, That it shall hereafter be the policy of the city to preserve the clean, pure air necessary to the health, safety and comfort of its citizens and the beauty and attractiveness of its scenery and buildings, and to enforce such policy that the Council should by ordinance, require railroads, manufactories, power and heating plants of all kinds, except those of private residences, to provide suitable appliances and methods to prevent the emission of smoke in volume or character deleterious or objectionable."

BABE, MOURNED AS DEAD, SUDDENLY COMES TO LIFE

Is Seen to Move in Coffin by Mourners at Funeral—Child Is Pronounced Out of Danger.

EL PASO, Tex., March 5.—With the mourners gathering to attend the last rites, the two-month-old daughter of C. C. Harrington of Orange, Tex., declared dead three days ago and who had exhibited no signs of life since that time, moved in her tiny coffin, gaped and opened her eyes. After the child had been declared dead by the physicians, she was prepared for burial, but the funeral was postponed until today, owing to the condition of Mrs. Harrington, who was suffering from the shock. The child is pronounced out of danger tonight. The coffin has been sent back to the undertaker's, and the evidences of mourning have given place to those of joy.

Mrs. Marie Ludlam of Oadby, Leicestershire, England, is 100 years old. She has long been a smoker and her friends have marked the anniversary of her birth by sending her parcels of tobacco.

BARELA HOLDS SEAT IN SENATE BY TIE VOTE

his own behalf, in which he showed that the election had been fair, and his election legal. When he concluded, a vote was taken. The majority report, unseating Barela, was lost by a tie vote as follows:

Ayes—Adams, Burris, Carringer, Cary, Cassaday, Croke, Crowley, Ehrhart, Irby, Kennedy, McCue, Napier, Scott, Skinner, Tobin, Twining, West—17.

Nays—Bardwell, Bohn, Burger, Button, Campbell, Carpenter, De Long, Drake, Fry, Gove, Harrison, Jones, Lines, Meyer, O'Connell, Stephen, Wood—17.

All other motions were lost by the same tie vote. This leaves Barela in his seat.

The senate then adjourned to Monday.

During the morning hour the house passed an amendment to the rules concerning striking out enacting clauses that will make the procedure more definite.

Bills Passed on Third Reading.

On third reading three bills were passed, as follows: The one to abolish the board of capitol managers and have the work done by a superintendent to be appointed by the secretary of state; a bill to punish those who steal ores, minerals and concentrates, known as the "high grading bill," and to enable the collection of water works assessments against vacant lots and land.

The house spent its entire afternoon in committee of the whole, acting on numerous bills. Mr. Rubin's bill to prohibit the employment of children under 14 years suffered the loss of its enacting clause, as did Mr. Durfee's bill to compel the publication of expense accounts in school districts.

Three of Mr. Helbig's bills, concerning elections, passed second reading safely. These provide that candidates may act as watchers and judges of elections; that judges must alternate in adjoining precincts, that is, if one party has a majority in one precinct the other party must have a majority in the next, and prohibiting any assistance being given to a voter except in cases of physical disability. The last is calculated to dispose of the illiterate voter question.

Primary Bill.

H. B. 2.5, by Hicks, providing for registration, was read, but neither discussed nor considered. It will come up for amendment when the committee shall meet again. It provides a registration for the primary elections and is a companion for the direct primary bill already passed by the house.

The bill to provide that the governor shall appoint a physician for the penitentiary at a salary of $1,500 a year, also passed second reading. The house then adjourned to Monday.

A favorable report has been made by the house committee on judiciary on Hicks' bill to authorize the attorney general to investigate the acts of the federal government in relation to the public lands in and the waters of this state, and to authorize him to appear in cases affecting these rights and to bring suits as he may deem to have a right in court.

The new committee of the house, that on forest reserves, has returned to the house without recommendation the bills to permit government officers of forest reserves to act under state authority.

BISHOP BONNACUM WINS POSSESSION OF CHURCH

LINCOLN, Neb., March 5.—By a decision rendered this evening by the Nebraska supreme court, Bishop Bonnacum of the Catholic diocese of Lincoln, triumphs in his 10 years' fight with Father William Murphy at Seward, Neb., for possession of St. Vincent's church. The court sustains, so far as a civil court has jurisdiction, the decree of excommunication pronounced by the bishop against the priest.

The struggle between the bishop and priest has been stubborn. Six times the case has been in the district court and three times remanded by the supreme court. Twice it has been before the pope.

LEGAL NOTICES.

CALL FOR REPUBLICAN CITY CONVENTION.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted at a meeting of the Colorado Springs Republican City Central Committee, held in the Police Court Room, City Hall, on the second day of March, 1909, a call is hereby issued for a Republican Delegate City Convention, to be held in District Court Room, Division No. 1 of Colorado Springs, Colorado, on Monday, March 15th, 1909, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of nominating one City Mayor, one City Clerk, one City Treasurer, one City Auditor, one City Attorney, one City Engineer, and for the purpose of nominating and confirming:

One Alderman from the First Ward.
One Alderman from the Second Ward.
One Alderman from the Third Ward.
One Alderman from the Fourth Ward.
One Alderman from the Fifth Ward.
One Alderman from the Sixth Ward.
One Alderman from the Seventh Ward.
One Alderman from the Eighth Ward.

And for the purpose of selecting a Chairman and a City Central Committee, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before said Convention.

The Primaries for electing the delegates and Aldermanic candidates from the several Precincts and Wards, shall be held on Saturday, March 13th, 1909, between the hours of 3 and 7 o'clock p. m., and that the call for said primaries be published at least three days prior thereto. The basis of representation for said Convention shall be one delegate for each twenty-five votes cast at the last general election for Governor Jesse F. McDonald, and one for each major fraction thereof, giving the following apportionment:

Ward One, Precinct One—7 Delegates.
Ward One, Precinct Two—9 Delegates.
Ward One, Precinct Three—6 Delegates.
Ward One, Precinct Four—5 Delegates.

LARGE AMOUNT OF BUILDING PLANNED

WOODMEN TO HAVE ANOTHER TENT COLONY SOON.

Figuring on Central Structure and Refrigerating and Heating Plants. Head Offices Coming

Plans for the immediate erection of a second colony of 60 tents, and the early construction of a central building and a refrigerating and heating plant at the National Modern Woodmen sanitarium north of this city, the proposed improvements contemplating an expenditure of more than $250,000, will be considered on Tuesday, March 9, when chief executives of the order will visit the institution. The officials who will remain in Colorado Springs several days, are: A. R. Talbot, head consul, Lincoln, Neb., and the following members of the board of directors: A. N. Bort, chairman, Beloit, Wis.; R. R. Smith, Brookfield, Mo.; E. E. Murphy, Leavenworth, Kan.; C. J. Byrns, Ishpeming, Mich., and J. A. Rutledge, Elgin, Ill.

May Levy Assessment.

A proposition is now being considered to levy an assessment of $1 on each of the $1,000,000 members of the order, to create a fund for many proposed enlargements. The levy would be made on a month calling for no insurance assessment. This fund would provide for the construction of the central building, the heating and refrigerating plant and other proposed buildings.

The head officers will participate in the installation of the state banner, won by Colorado Springs camp No. 7226, M. W. A. for securing more new members than any other camp in the state during the last year. The ceremony will take place in the new M. W. A. hall in the Bacon block next Tuesday evening instead of Wednesday evening, as had been originally planned. The date was changed to suit the convenience of the head camp officers.

The banner will be formally presented to Colorado Springs camp by F. B. Easterly of Denver, state deputy head consul, and received for the camp by E. E. Gould, camp consul.

Notification of the visit of the head camp officers was received yesterday by S. C. Tait, clerk of Colorado Springs camp No. 7226.

ENTER PROTEST AGAINST PROPOSED RAILROAD LAW

Fearing that the measure, if enacted, would operate to the detriment of Colorado Springs and the state, the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday entered a protest against Senate bill No. 257, designed to compel a railroad company to recognize any ticket held by a passenger regardless of the time limit, reduced rates or other provisions agreed to by the purchaser. It is believed that the passage of the measure would cause the railroads to withdraw excursion rates from the state.

STRENUOUS LIQUOR FIGHT IN PRECINCTS

PETITIONS FILED FOR VOTE IN DISTRICTS.

Question Depends on Final Decision as to What Constitutes a Municipal Unit

Is the precinct vote the unit in determining the question of antisaloon territory? On the solution of this problem depends the fate of the drug stores, and probably the clubs of Colorado Springs so far as the sale of intoxicating liquor is concerned, if the question, "Shall Colorado Springs become antisaloon territory?" is decided in the affirmative at the municipal election, April 6.

Petitions asking that the question shall be voted on with regard to four precincts in this city were filed with City Clerk E. C. F. Whitaker yesterday, the last day for filing these petitions before the next election. The petitions concern precincts 2 and 3 of Ward 4, and precincts 3 and 4 of Ward 7, including most of the business section of Colorado Springs, and embracing every club and almost every liquor-selling drug store.

Awaiting Court Decision.

These petitions were filed by those in favor of the sale of liquor in these precincts, who hope that the proposition will be decided negatively in these districts at the election, even though the general proposition that Colorado Springs become antisaloon territory be carried. If the general election carries and the special questions are rejected in the four precincts named, then the druggists will base their hopes on the issue being raised in Denver, and especially in the Carey bill pending in the legislature, declaring the precinct to be the unit in this matter. The case has already been carried to the supreme court, so that even if the bill does not pass, the liquor men hope that the supreme court decision on the present statute will declare the precinct to be the unit.

More Names Filed

The antisaloon men, on the other side, depend on the prevent law to give their petition, asking that the question of the entire town going dry be given precedence, because it was filed first, and for this reason the petition, signed by about 2,300 names, was filed with the city clerk at 4 o'clock on the morning of the first day on which such petitions could legally be recorded. J. H. Ketchum, who is in charge of the local option movement, yesterday filed about 300 additional names to his petition, making a total of 2,500 names. About 2,300 signatures are required, this being 40 per cent of the total vote cast last November.

Three precinct petitions were filed yesterday. One was that the question whether precinct 4 of Ward 7 become antisaloon territory be placed on the ballot, a second was with regard to both precincts 3 and 4 of this ward, and the third was regarding precincts 2 and 3 of Ward 2. The number of signatures ranged from 140 to 200.

Those who want to vote separately on the precincts claim that if the entire town becomes antisaloon territory the clubs, as well as the druggists, must stop selling liquor and point out in corroboration that the Driving club of Denver was forced out of business after the precinct in which it was located went dry. In Canon City the same condition prevailed.

In view of the general indifference regarding the election of city officials, the liquor question will probably be the main issue at the election next month.

RIP VAN WINKLE RETURNS

Thomas Jefferson Gives Fine Portrayal of Lovable Old Character. Company Good

"Rip Van Winkle," Washington Irving's delightful fantasy of the Catskill mountains, which for three generations has served the Jefferson family as a vehicle for displaying their histrionic powers, returned to the Opera House last night, with the fifth of the Jefferson, Thomas, in the title role. It was "Rip" that brought the late Joseph Jefferson into prominence and furnished that player with the best part he ever had. His name will always be associated with this character, no matter who may play it in the future. Therefore, his son, Thomas, is laboring under a difficulty in trying to follow his famous father in the part.

Thomas Jefferson, by his careful study and fine portrayal of this lovable old vagabond, shows his right to the part. No matter what his father may have done with the role, Thomas undoubtedly gives a characterization which deserves much praise. "Rip" is a part that demands much from the player, for his change from a young man to an old tramp requires versatility, imagination, the mastery of makeup and detail work. Thomas Jefferson satisfies, which means that he makes this character live, and wins the sympathy of the audience.

Mr. Jefferson's company is capable, especially F. M. Mitchell, W. B. Freeman among the men, and Rysalie De Veaux among the women. The two children, Oscar Johnson and Gladys Egan, are exceedingly clever. The settings were good.

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR LA GRIPPE

VERY FIRST SIGN

OF SERIOUS KIDNEY TROUBLE IS IN THE BACK.

Gives Prescription Which Anyone Can Prepare to Overcome Kidney Trouble.

Take care of backaches. A great many cases of kidney complaint are reported about here, also bladder trouble and rheumatism.

An authority once stated that pain in the back, loins or region of the kidneys is the danger signal nature hangs out to notify the sufferer that there is something wrong with the kidneys, which should receive immediate attention. Only vegetable treatment should be administered and absolutely no strongly alcoholic medicines, which are harmful to the kidneys and bladder.

The following prescription, which is simple, harmless and inexpensive, is known and recognized as a sovereign remedy for kidney complaint. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy and at once one can mix them. Compound Kargon one ounce, Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This preparation is said to restore the natural function of the kidneys so they will sift and strain the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, purifying it and relieving rheumatism. Backache will be relieved, the urine will be neutralized and cleared and no longer a cause of irritation thereby overcoming such symptoms as weak bladder, painful, frequent and other urinary difficulties.

This is worth trying and may prove just what many people here need.

ALLEGED CATTLE THIEF CAUGHT IN ST. JOSEPH

Emil Dean, aged 22 years, has been arrested in St. Joseph, Mo., on information by Sheriff Birdsall and Chief Wolfe of the Colorado City police and will be brought back to this city by Deputy Sheriff A. O. Taylor on a charge of cattle stealing. C. M. Hobbs yesterday filed a direct information in the district court, charging Dean with stealing cattle from Harry Rathka.

Rathka, Don Siffa and John Crutz have lost many head of cattle recently, and Herman Crutz, son of John Crutz, is in the county jail on a charge of being implicated. He is said to have made a partial confession.

A RELIGIOUS AUTHOR'S STATEMENT.—Rev. Joseph H. Feazel, of Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy. Sold by all druggists.

TWO LICENSES.—Marriage licenses were issued in the county clerk's office yesterday to Ross Amos of Woodland Park and Virgie Griffith of this city, and Gordon Stephens of Colorado Springs and Frances Rebecca Hutchins of Memphis, Tenn.

TO HOLD CONVENTION HERE

Congregational Church Missionary Societies of Colorado to Meet March 21 and 22.

Of great importance in the missionary world will be the meeting of the missionary societies of the Congregational churches of Colorado at the First Congregational church in Colorado Springs, March 21 and 22. In the neighborhood of 100 delegates will attend these meetings which are a part of a joint campaign being conducted all over the United States in the interest of the missionary societies of the Congregational church.

The meeting will have educational features in that it will enable Congregationalists of Colorado to see just what their missionary situation is.

LAW ISSUES FORMAL CALL

Provides for Holding of Republican City Convention and for the Primaries

Chairman D. F. Law of the Republican city central committee yesterday issued the formal call for the city convention of that party, to be held in division No. 1 of the district court Monday, March 15, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the nomination of a Mayor, clerk, treasurer, auditor, attorney, engineer and eight aldermen, and also for the election of a city central committee and chairman thereof.

The primaries to elect delegates to the convention will be held Saturday, March 13, from 3 to 9 p. m. The basis of representation in this convention is one delegate for each 25 votes cast for Jesse F. McDonald at the last general election, making a total of 164 delegates.

The formal call is printed elsewhere in this issue.

BUSY YEAR FOR UNION

American Sunday School Union in Colorado Spreads Gospel Work Throughout the State.

J. H. Ketchum of this city, state superintendent of the American Sunday School union in Colorado, reports that during the fiscal year from March 1, 1908, to March 1, 1909, the society established 58 Sunday schools, enrolling 1,730 members in places where no religious work was being done. There were 383 visits made to schools enrolling 30,124 members, and 5,832 visits made to homes. There were 402 gospel meetings held in which 208 persons professed faith. 541 persons were personally spoken to about becoming Christians, 35 preaching stations were opened for pastors, three churches were organized, 891 Bibles and testaments were distributed, more than $100 worth of Sunday school supplies were sold and given away, 807 sermons and addresses were delivered and a distance of 22,674 miles was traveled by the workers.

The local officers of the American Sunday School union are D. Wilson Moore and T. P. Barber. The union is the oldest missionary society of its kind in America and the largest in the world. It has more than 200 representatives in the United States and since its organization nearly a century ago has established 117,558 Sunday schools, or almost four schools a day for 84 years. During this time about $10,000,000 worth of religious literature has been distributed and 348,274 schools have been aided, having a membership of 21,608,864.

My three-year-old boy was badly constipated, had a high fever and was in an awful condition. I gave him two doses of Foley's Orino Laxative and the next morning the fever was gone and he was entirely well. Foley's Orino Laxative saved his life. A. Wolkusa, Casimer, Wis. Sold by all druggists.

REGISTRATION ANNOYANCE TO BE DONE AWAY WITH

After having passed the senate, the bill introduced into the legislature by Senator M. A. Skinner of this city, providing for only one regular and one supplemental registration for charter elections in Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Grand Junction, has passed the house on second reading, and will probably go to Governor Shafroth and be signed by him in a day or two. It will then become a law, the emergency clause having been attached, and the registration annoyance, which has been in evidence in this city for many months, will be abated.

County Clerk E. C. Shelden says that the boards of registration in this city report the total registration thus far as only about one-half that preceding the general election last November. Unregistered voters will have one more chance to qualify next Monday, when the registration boards will sit in the various precincts from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

LENTEN SERVICES TO BE HELD AT THE COLLEGE

Commencing Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock and continuing every Sunday until Easter, a series of Lenten services will be held at Bemis hall for Colorado College students and faculty members. Dr. W. F. Slocum will give a series of addresses on "Fundamental Principles of Christian Life, as Illustrated by the Life of Christ." There will be special music at each service. Tomorrow evening Dr. Slocum will speak on "Solitude, Silence and Reflection." Mrs. Atherton Noyes will give several piano selections.

Colorado City News

POLITICS GETTING WARMER AS ELECTION APPROACHES

Unable to agree on the liquor question, the campaign committee of the Citizens party, which carried its campaign to a successful issue at the last city election, is now apparently badly divided. Despite the fact that an effort is being made to restore harmony, the breach is growing wider day by day.

The minority faction of the committee favors local option and the abolition of the liquor traffic in Colorado City. According to current gossip, it is opposed to the candidacy of Senator John B. Stephen for mayor. City Attorney Joseph P. Jackson and the Rev. Clark Bowers, pastor of the Christian church, are being mentioned as candidates for mayor. Mr. Jackson yesterday afternoon denied that he wanted the nomination. It is believed that he will be content with the nomination for the office of city attorney, which he has held for several terms.

The Stephen faction is greatly in the majority and favors high license and the reduction of the number of saloons.

With the next two weeks, the political situation in Colorado City will become more defined. Tickets may be filed any time now up to Saturday, March 20, which is the last day for filing.

Candidates for aldermen are unusually scarce. Attorney Jackson, one of the antiliquor element, yesterday, said [illegible] Aldermen J. D. Dunbar, Hinkson and Lushinsky would, he believed, be acceptable to the antisaloon element.

SYSTEMATIC CAMPAIGN TO BEAUTIFY THE CITY

A systematic campaign to beautify Colorado City and make attractive drives of its streets has been begun by Mayor I. A. Foote and members of the city council. Several hundred trees are to be set out along the principal streets of the town and in Fairview cemetery. At the adjourned council meeting Thursday night, City Clerk C. H. Ammerman was instructed to receive orders from private residents for trees.

The council will order a large shipment of trees and sell trees to citizens at the wholesale price. Citizens who have the best interests of the city at heart will set out these trees along the street on which their property lies. The trees which are not sold will be set out by the city. In a few years it is believed several unattractive streets in Colorado City will be converted into beautiful, shady avenues.

COLORADO CITY NEWS NOTES.

Mrs. Leonora Epperson, treasurer of school district No. 1, of El Paso county, has just published her semiannual report for the six months ending December 31, 1908. Warrants were issued to the amount of $16,149.80. The salary roll amounted to $11,255.58. School supplies cost $1,364.47.

The Rev. Mr. Beadles will speak on "Christian Science" tomorrow morning at the Methodist church. At 3 p. m. he will speak in Mack's hall on "Booze, or Among the Builders." The revival services will close tomorrow night.

E. R. Ripley of the Grand View greenhouses has ordered a large new boiler and 40-foot smoke stack for the heating plant in his greenhouses.

The degree team of Colorado City camp No. 495, W. O. W., will give a high five party and entertainment in Woodmen hall this evening.

The firm of Evilsizer & Seaman of Colorado City has been dissolved by mutual agreement of the firm members. E. V. Seaman has retired.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McGrath died Thursday. Interment was in Fairview cemetery yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Starr have returned from a visit with relatives in Missouri.

D. H. Patterson of Kansas City is visiting friends here this week.

COLLEGE STUDENTS ARE BUSY WITH PAINT BRUSH

Colorado College students are acquiring marked proficiency in the art of painting, as is shown by the decorations on "Schneider hall," the ticket office at Washburn field, which was presented to the College by the sophomore class last Wednesday afternoon. The booth was first painted with the sophomore colors. Wednesday night, the freshies got busy with brushes and a few buckets of their own paint. Thursday night, the color of the little "hall" was changed to orange and black, the college colors. Last night—well only the dawn can show what color of paint covers the booth today.

WELL-KNOWN MINING MAN ARRESTED FOR NONSUPPORT

J. P. Cain, a well-known mining man of this city and Cripple Creek, was arrested in Cripple Creek yesterday and brought to Colorado Springs on a charge of nonsupport, sworn out by his wife in Justice O. R. Dunnington's court. He was released on bond of $300 for his appearance March 10.

Cain claims to have receipts showing that he has given his wife upwards of $70 per month.

AFTER ESCAPING, ALLEGED FORGER CAUGHT IN PUEBLO

After escaping an officer who tried to arrest him in this city several days ago, although the policeman put a bullet in the leg of the fugitive, Emil Meyer, alias Charles Pfeil, was arrested in Pueblo yesterday, and will be brought to Colorado Springs by a deputy sheriff to answer two charges of forgery.

He was formerly employed at the Antlers hotel, and is accused of forging the name of Manager W. S. Dunning on two checks, passed on A. Fosterman and Henry Schmidt.

Pass Along The Good Word

That Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is to-day and has, for over 40 years, been the standard Blood-purifier, Stomach Strengthener and Liver Invigorator sold by druggists. It's not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition — a medicine so good that the best physicans prescribe it knowing that its ingredients, which are printed on its outside wrappers and attested under oath, are the best known to medical science for the diseases for which it is advised.

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

COLORADO COLLEGE IS INTERESTED IN MEASURE

Colorado College is vitally interested in a measure pending before the legislature exempting from taxation, property owned by schools of forestry. The Colorado College School of Forestry owns Manitou park, and pays an annual tax of $1,000 on the property to Teller county.

The measure will be discussed at a meeting of the Colorado Springs Real Estate exchange at the Alta Vista hotel next Thursday evening, and action will probably be taken indorsing the project.

DEFENDANTS BOUND OVER TO THE DISTRICT COURT

District Attorney M. W. Purcell returned yesterday from Hugo, where he attended the preliminary hearing of William and Charles Canning, charged by Grant Haney with assault to kill. The defendants were bound over to the next term of the district court.

In an altercation over cattle, the Cannings are alleged to have stabbed Haney, whose condition is considered critical.

TIGERS AND TERRORS ARE READY FOR FRAY

Will Clash This Afternoon in First Game of the Season

When Umpire Frank Newhouse, coach of the Colorado College Tigers, calls "Play Ball" this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on Washburn field, the first base ball game of the season in Colorado Springs will be on. The Tigers are to meet the High School Terrors, and, according to the dope, they will be given a strenuous tussle. The High School lads are showing unusual speed and batting qualities and may put a few crimps in the Tigers' tail before the game closes.

Van Stone pitcher and Deesz catcher, the battery, as they have been named, will do the honors for the college. Captain Bancroft of the Terrors will open the game with Allen in the box and Dixon behind the bat. It is possible that Hyatt, the speedy High School pitcher, may be put on the firing line before the game closes.

Washburn field is in better condition than in several years, and a large crowd is expected at the game. Following is the line up:

ROOSEVELT'S FIRST DAY AS PRIVATE CITIZEN QUIET ONE

Takes His Usual Daily Exercise in Woods—Submits to Short Interview Leaves Soon on Hunt

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., March —Former President Roosevelt's first day as a private citizen was spent in a decidedly quiet manner at his home at Sagamore Hill. Notwithstanding the cold wind, Mr. Roosevelt was out early and took his daily exercise in the woods.

His day was interrupted by calls from a score of newspaper representatives to secure an interview. Finally, however, he consented to say a few words and made the first public announcement of the date and steamer on which he is to depart for Africa, which is March 23, by the steamer Hamburg.

Mr. Roosevelt is enjoying an uninterrupted, democratic life, and intends to continue to enjoy it until starting on his hunting trip. A deluge of letters, telegrams and cablegrams poured into Sagamore Hill today, bringing to the former President the kindly sentiments of friends from all parts of the world. So great is the number of these messages that today he asked the press to announce that while he appreciated these and would like to reply to each, it is a physical impossibility for him to answer even one-tenth of them.

PROVINCE OF COURT NOT TO PROTECT FOOL'S MONEY

Judge Lewis Renders Important Decision in Case Charging Use of Mails to Defraud

DENVER, March 5.—Judge Robert E. Lewis in the United States district court, today made a ruling which, according to United States District Attorney Thomas Ward, practically nullifies the federal statute under which all cases of using the mails to defraud are prosecuted, so far as the jurisdiction of Judge Lewis extends. The ruling was made in the case of J. F. Manning, a mining man of Denver, who was being tried on the charge of using the mails to promote a fraudulent mining scheme. The case was thrown out of court. Judge Lewis in freeing Manning said:

"It is impossible for the government to prosecute all cases where a man is exploiting mining property of a questionable character. In this case the stock was being sold at 3 cents a share. The men who brought must have known they were not buying stock in a producing mine."

Earlier in the case, Judge Lewis said:

"This court is not sitting on the bench to keep all fools from being parted with their money."

WHISKY WOULDN'T KILL

Would-Be Murderers Then Try to Bribe Physician to Administer Poison —Arrests Follow

SAN FRANCISCO, March —Sidney J. Danby has made a full confession to Captain of Detectives Anthony admitting the conspiracy in which he and Jay O'Loane entered to kill James Goodwin, an aged miner, and secure his fortune, estimated at $60,000. Danby said that he and O'Loane planned to cause the old man's death by keeping him filled with whisky. Finding that he did not succumb to the effects of the liquor as quickly as they wished, they tried to induce a physician to administer poison to Goodwin and issue a certificate of death from alcoholism. The plot was first revealed to Dr. Howard, to whom they had broached the matter.

The two men were booked at the city prison today for violation of a section of the penal code providing a punishment of five years imprisonment for anyone convicted of administering drugs or liquor to a human being with intent to commit a felony. The original charge of conspiracy to commit murder is punishable by only one year's imprisonment.

STATE TRIES TO IMPEACH GOVERNOR'S TESTIMONY

Prosecution in Cooper Murder Case Has Its Innings. One Arrest on Perjury Charge

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 5.—This was the state's day in the trial of Col. D. B. Cooper, Robin Cooper and John D. Sharp, charged with murdering former Senator Carmack. Not only did it break down the testimony of S. J. Binning, the defense's mysterious red-bearded man who claimed to have seen the shooting, but caused Binning's arrest on a charge of perjury. The state also tried to impeach the testimony of the governor and others who declared the Coopers were invited to the governor's mansion and that while on their way there they met Carmack and the street duel followed.

The bombardment of the defense's case began when the witness testified that Binning the night of the tragedy, said to them: "If I had been five or ten minutes earlier I would have seen the killing."

YOUNG TAFTS ENTERTAINED.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Miss Helen Taft and her brother Robert, were the guests of honor tonight at a dinner given at the home of Mrs. Charles A. The party then returned to the Munn residence where a much larger number of guests, all young people, had been invited to meet Miss Taft at a dance.

EMBARRASSING

From the Chicago News.

From the dark kitchen there emanated a series of thumps and angry exclamations. Jones was looking for the cat.

"Pa!" called the son from the stairway.

"Go to bed and let me alone," blurted Jones. "I've just barked my shins."

"Pa!" persisted Tommy, after a moment's silence.

"Well, what is it? Didn't I tell you to keep quiet?"

"I—I didn't hear your shins bark."

And the next moment Tommy was being pursued by an angry sire with a hard hairbrush.

COLO. COLLEGES WILL UNTANGLE ALL RULES

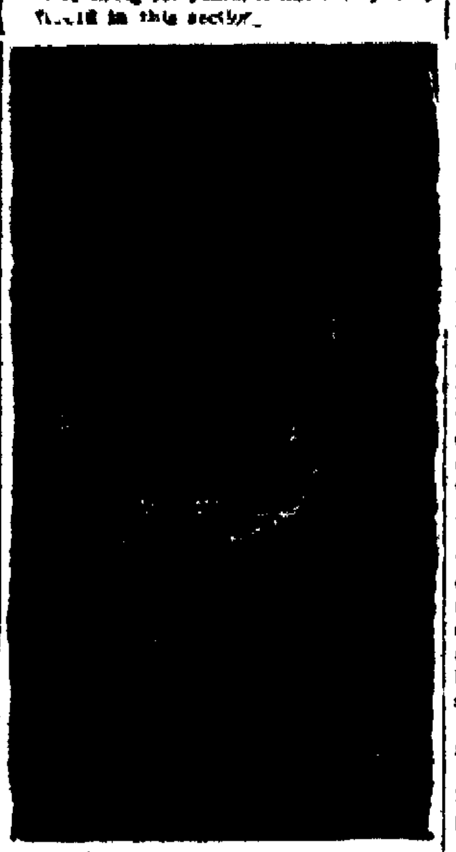

Meeting in Denver Today to Discuss Eligibility Regulations—Parsons to Attend

At the annual college conference of Colorado colleges and universities, in Denver today, it is hoped that the tangles in eligibility rules will be straightened, and that the bitter feeling between the Boulder and Denver universities may be healed, owing to the unpleasant relations between Denver and Boulder, separate meetings will be held. This morning a meeting will be held with Denver university absent. Another will be held this afternoon with Denver present and Boulder absent. The meetings have been called by Dean E. S. Parsons of Colorado College.

All eligibility rules concerning the schedules for baseball, track and athletics will be considered. This is the second session of the kind, the first having been held under similar conditions some years ago.

The meetings are being conducted by the faculty representatives of the various schools. Each school will have one vote, but may have as many representatives present as it sees fit. Dean E. S. Parsons will represent Colorado College, Dean Hellems will represent the University of Colorado. Dr. G. Engle will represent the University of Denver faculty. Professors W. Haldane and W. Patton will be over from the School of Mines, and Dean J. Lawrence will represent the State Agricultural college. In addition, Manager William G. Lennox is expected from Colorado Springs. Coach C. J. Rothgeb, Manager F. Earl from Fort Collins, Director W. C. Bryan from the Mines, Coach J. P. Koehler from the University of Denver.

One of the important subjects which will be taken up very thoroughly is the question of allowing collegians to play baseball during the vacation months for money and still retain their standing in college athletics. Although there has nominally been a rule prohibiting this sort of thing for years, it has rarely been enforced in this section.

Franklin Model D

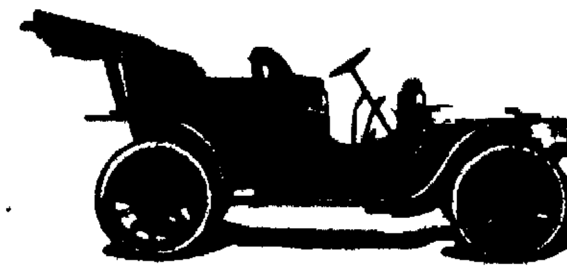

Model D is not a big expensive machine. It is of moderate size, abundantly powerful—an automobile you can afford to own and to use every day.

You can make speed with Model D and make it comfortably. It does not fatigue the passengers or by its jolting dissipate the power. Its full-elliptic springs and laminated wood chassis frame absorb and neutralize the shocks from road inequalities.

Model D is commodious and strong without excessive weight. Not only does it ride comfortably, but with its air-cooled engine it has plenty of reserve power. It is quick to get away and quick to stop. You can use the horse-power and not strain or rack the automobile. In Model D you get full value of automobile enjoyment.

The only way to fully realize Model D is to use it. Weighing, as it does, one-third less than the average water-cooled automobile of equal ability, it gives the minimum tire and operating expense.

This is the fifth year of Model D. It is a tried and proven standard—the ideal automobile for all-around service.

THE CARE OF THE STREETS.

THE annual report of the Street Commissioner, published a few days ago, contains a number of interesting facts and comments which may be read with profit by everybody who is interested in the important subject with which it deals. Commissioner Fair agrees as everybody else does who has had experience in street work in Colorado Springs—that the streets in the business section should be paved and the residence streets surfaced with disintegrated granite. An examination of the figures given in his report indicates that in the long run this would be a money-saving improvement.

PAVING IS ONLY SOLUTION.

For instance it is shown that in the year 1908 the city spent $7,616 for street sprinkling, of which $2,205 was for the operation of the electric sprinklers and $5,411 for the sprinkling carts. Every cent of this money was spent to give what was merely temporary relief from the dust nuisance on temporary that the process has to be repeated within a few hours at most, or the nuisance is as bad as ever. Sprinkling the streets to get rid of dust is like holding your hand over a hole in your clothes to hide the hole. It may answer the purpose for a few minutes, but as a permanent relief it is unsatisfactory. If we could keep the streets perpetually wet there would be no dust, but even this would have its disadvantages, and in actual practice we [illegible] with enough moisture to lay more than a small part of the dust.

The better way, and indeed the only way it can ever be a real solution of the problem, is paving. [illegible] would almost put an end to the dust nuisance on the part of the city where it is most needed. There would be no further necessity of sprinkling there, and by such [illegible] streets with disintegrated granite as has been done on Cascade Avenue, the necessity of sprinkling would be reduced to a minimum.

The Street Commissioner reports that during the last year 126 blocks of street were graveled, 201 blocks patched, and 36 blocks rolled. All of this is temporary work, though unavoidable under the present system. Practically all of it will have to be done over again before the end of the present year. The Street Department is constantly employed in doing over again the things it has just finished doing. Last year it spent $80,000, more than $50,000 of which was for temporary work. The only items of importance which can be regarded as permanent is the work on the Hagerman Street Viaduct, $16,000 and judging by its appearance this job is not likely to be as permanent as it should be; the Uintah Street undercrossing, $1,500, and thirteen blocks of disintegrated granite, about $5,200.

TEMPORARY WORK IS TOO EXPENSIVE.

Of course the Street Commissioner is not to blame for this. He is simply carrying out a policy for which he is in no way responsible, but it does seem a wicked waste of money to care for the streets according to the present fashion. For instance, about once a year a large force of men and teams is put to work plowing up Tejon Street or some other main thoroughfare. The surface is plowed to a depth of six or eight inches, and then for several days the teams are busy hauling away the dirt. The next step is to haul in fresh dirt, or gravel, which is dumped on the street, and then the noisy, smoky, steam-roller is started. For about two weeks that steam roller makes a nuisance of itself to everybody within smelling or hearing distance, but in the end we have a pretty good street—that is, until further notice. Of course, there is nothing permanent about the job and the work of destruction begins even before the construction is completed. Every passing wheel grinds off a little of the gravel, which is immediately added to the perpetual dust cloud or is transformed into mud by rain or the sprinkling car. After a few months the surface is so worn and uneven that it must be plowed up again and the whole process repeated.

PERMANENT POLICY NECESSARY.

It does not require much investigation to convince anybody that this is a tremendously costly business. Men and teams can not be hired for a song, and when they are employed at hauling gravel all the way from the gravel pit near the Portland Mill to the North end of town it means that each load costs the city a decidedly fancy figure.

Why not put a stop to these wasteful methods by deciding once and for all on a systematic program of permanent street improvement? Make a beginning by paving Tejon Street from Platte to Vermijo and Pikes Peak Avenue and Huerfano Street from Cascade to Nevada. This would be done at the expense of the owners of abutting property, and at the same time let the city put down disintegrated granite on some of the principal residence streets.

We cannot hope or expect to do it all at once, but a beginning must be made some time, and the sooner the better. The cost of surfacing Tejon Street with disintegrated granite for its entire length, except in the business district which would be paved, probably would not exceed the cost of its maintenance for two years under the present haphazard method. There is an abundant supply of disintegrated granite close at hand, and the city can far better afford to use it, even at greater initial cost, than it can afford to continue the present system.

GRANITE IS CHEAP AND SATISFACTORY.

Cascade Avenue from Platte to the Rock Island crossing is an example of the excellent results to be obtained by this method. The portion of that street north of the College has been thus improved about six years, and shows little, if any, sign of wear, and in all that time practically nothing has been spent on it for maintenance or repairs. Of course, it was an expensive job, but by far the larger part of the expense was for the concrete work necessitated by parking which would be omitted from the other streets except where the property owners desired to create a parking district.

The city now owns a 50-horsepower electric motor and receives its power free. It could easily install a rock-crushing plant which could be operated at very little expense and furnish an unlimited supply of disintegrated granite. The result of this course would soon be a few miles of street of which we might well be proud, a reduction of the cost of sprinkling and maintenance, and to a considerable extent, the abatement of the dust nuisance. It is an object worth striving for; for its attainment would aid materially in the advancement of Colorado Springs.

FROM OTHER PENS

WHAT TO DO FOR LIBERIA.

From the Chicago Record-Herald

Last June commissioners from the Republic of Liberia visited this country to ask for assistance in the administration of their country. Since then the state department has been in correspondence with foreign governments and with the officials of Liberia, and has reached the conclusion that "it is quite clear that Liberia is very much in need of assistance, that the United States can help her substantially, and that it is our duty to help her." The President has asked Congress for an appropriation of $20,000 to pay the expenses of a commission to investigate the condition of the government, confer with consular representatives of other governments and advise as to action "most apt to render effective relief to the Republic of Liberia under the present critical circumstances."

The history of Liberia and the reasons why the United States should take special interest in her welfare especially ready to render aid are well known. At present forty or fifty thousand civilized negroes, descendants mainly of American colonists, occupy a territory of 43,000 square miles, in which there are a million and a half uncivilized natives. The control of the natives has proved very difficult to the citizens of the republic, who have not even been very successful with their government in other respects. In especial France and Great Britain, owning neighboring colonies complain of the failure of Liberia to maintain order along the border.

Great Britain now provides an officer to administer the Liberian customs, and France has given aid in the same field. Great Britain has suggested that if the United States would lend an official to introduce reforms into the judiciary, acting in the capacity of judicial adviser, it would be well. It was Secretary Root's preference, however, to have a first-hand investigation made before taking any definite steps. Such an investigation should be made with all the care and skill which we can provide. Booker Washington is quite right in saying that we should give as freely of money and men to upbuild Liberia as we have given for the Philippines, Hawaii, Cuba, Porto Rico and Santo Domingo.

REMARKABLE STATEMENTS FROM A CANADIAN.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer

Some statements made on a recent occasion by Mr. John S. Ewart, a member of the Ottawa bar and a K. C., are sufficiently out of the ordinary to invite some comment. Speaking before the Canadian club, he remarked that to regard the Monroe doctrine as a mere piece of "Yankee swagger," as he feared many Canadians did, was to show a total misapprehension of what that doctrine meant. In his opinion it was one of the most beneficent principles regarding international relations, and he went on to say that "if any European power should seek to violate it, Canada ought, if need be, to join with the United States and all other American powers in its assertion and maintenance."

The contingency imagined by Mr. Ewart is remote, and there are some substantial reasons for believing that if the United States were called upon to maintain the Monroe doctrine by force of arms it would be able to do so without assistance. Yet it is none the less gratifying to hear from a man of Mr. Ewart's standing this intelligent and broad-minded appreciation of a subject on which more ignorance and prejudice are exhibited than on almost any other. To describe the Monroe doctrine as a beneficent principle is to state no more than the fact, and to no other of the parties concerned is its beneficence more important than to the great and growing country which lies to our immediate north. The big navy which the United States has created is scarcely less for the protection of the Canadians than of ourselves, not designedly, of course, but in effect.

Mr. Ewart went on to say some other things which showed how slight in the Canadian thought is the tie which binds the Dominion to the mother country. Canadians such as Mr. Ewart are willing that the existing conditions should continue only so long as Canadian interests are not thereby prejudiced. Thus he declared that in a war between the United Kingdom and Japan on the one hand and the United States on the other—it is unthinkable Canada would decline to help the allies, and why? For the reason that "on two occasions she has suffered invasion by the United States because of foolish British quarrels, but she will decline to risk her political existence for the benefit of the Japanese."

That sounds queerly in the mouth of a British subject, but in Canada the subject business is much more of theory than of fact.

AMERICAN YOUTH.

From Collier's

Just before he sailed, Professor Ferrero, in private conversation made an interesting comment on his American experiences and observations. He was sorry and disappointed that he had met so few young men in America, he had seen almost nothing of any one under forty, when he had visited in families where there were grown young people they had not appeared at the dinner parties arranged in his honor; he was told they did not care about serious talk; they were off about their own amusements with their mates.

But this is very bad. How are young men to know, to care, to take up the reins when the time comes if they do not associate with their elders? Why is it like this here?

His American interlocutor could only say that he had been asking that same question for twenty years. Why are American boys so youthful at twenty-one? We have grown used to the fact. We expect them to be callow at twenty-one, and wonder if they begin to take up the interests of men by the time they are twenty-five. How many men under thirty does the reader know with political convictions or even robust political prejudices? In England of late years there has been a change in the same direction; is there any relation between this prolongation of adolescence and the increase of longevity in the English-speaking world? Literature, even without the aid of statistics, would tell us that old age has receded. In Trevelyan's "Early Life of Charles James Fox," for instance, the decrepitude to be looked for around about forty appears a matter of course to Fox and his contemporaries, and, in truth, they were rarely disappointed of it. And how far off seems the time when Thackeray wrote of "forty years" as a term that put an end to many things, philandering in the list!

ADMIRAL LORD CHARLES BERESFORD RETIRES.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer

The reported retirement of Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, commander-in-chief of the Channel fleet, one year in advance of the date when his retirement would have occurred under the age limit, is likely to involve the government in a highly acrimonious controversy. Its action does not appear to possess any special or sinister significance. Beresford has always been a sturdy and uncompromising champion of the two-power standard, with a disposition to argue that if the standard were made a three-power one so much the better; but there have been no indications of any intention on Premier Asquith's part to abandon this time honored and, in the view of a multitude of Englishmen, quasi-sacred principle.

In a recent speech Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, declared in favor of building five new Dreadnoughts, and although the public has not yet been told where all the money that will be needed is to come from, so far as it has been defined the attitude of the government up on this question is, at least from the jingo point of view, irreproachable. It seems not unlikely that Beresford has been ratified because his official superiors have grown weary of the situation created by the enmity notoriously existing between him and Admiral Fisher, of the Admiralty Board, the real head of the British navy, and saw an opportunity in the projected redistribution of the naval forces to end an anomalous condition of affairs which has long been a fruitful source of clash and scandal.

However that may be, a first-class fight of the free-for-all variety may be expected to ensue. Beresford, who in some respects resembles our own "Fighting Bob" Evans, is always ready for a scrap. In fact, there is nothing he likes better, and as he is as good a politician as he is an admiral, which is saying a whole lot, and has a large popular following, he is pretty sure to get into the game in double-quick order and to make things extremely interesting all round. The British public is feeling all worked up just now over the object lesson furnished by a play in which "An Englishman's Home" is desecrated by German invaders, and a considerable section of it, which has always thought of Beresford as incarnating the militant spirit, will see in his retirement little else than the expression of a pusillanimous pacificism.

It looks at this distance as though it would have been more discreet to let the old sea dog fill out his term, but the government presumably knows what it is about and it is certainly showing the courage of its convictions.

WHITE WINGED PEACE.

Fair Peace still spreads her snowy pinions above these opulent domains, and Mars a winter dream, the Eagle roosts on lofty perches, or, heavy winged, through cloudland lurches, but never lifts to scream. We've only love and admiration for every other blooming nation, and every one loves us; no country wants to heave a boulder, or wear a chip upon its shoulder, or raise a useless fuss. Saturday, March 6, 1909.

Strive not before superiors, nor presume
To set intriguing hands to fortune's loom.

On this 65th day the Moon is full and occupies the quinoctial sign Libra. Uranus in trine is in benefic aspect. The Sun in opposition to the Moon is evil.

"Winds and waters that break bonds" are menaced during this Moon and the early part of its successor.

Carry neither quarrel nor importunity before superiors this day.

They who seek work or promotion must be prepared with clear and convincing arguments.

Caution is advised in dealing with persons having official power.

Uranus looks with helpful power on those who must undertake unusual tasks or enter into duties not before experienced.

A good day to consult antiquarians, historians, philosophers, teachers and other students in professions that require calm and deliberate thought.

Plot and intrigue are likely to react on those who use them.

Overindulgence is under a bad sign in these coming 48 hours.

Important news is fore-omened for the woman with this birthdate.

Men with this birthdate should gain during the twelvemonth in money and reputation but will need to guard against a temptation to use ignoble means to gain a desired end.

Children are born under a sign this day promising activity and enterprise. Girls should develop rich talents in some high field. Boys will profit by reading.

THE OAND-HOWARD

SENATE CONFIRMS TAFT NOMINATIONS

CHOICE OF CABINET MEMBERS PLEASES UPPER HOUSE.

Loeb, Roosevelt's Secretary, Is Made Collector of Customs for District of New York, N. Y.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The following nominations were sent today to the senate by President Taft and promptly confirmed:

Philander C. Knox, of Pennsylvania, to be secretary of state.

Franklin MacVeagh, of Illinois, to be secretary of the treasury.

Jacob M. Dickinson, of Tennessee, to be secretary of war.

George W. Wickersham, of New York, to be attorney general.

Frank H. Hitchcock, of Massachusetts, to be postmaster general.

George von L. Meyer, of Massachusetts, to be secretary of the navy.

Richard A. Ballinger, of Washington, to be secretary of the interior.

James Wilson, of Iowa, to be secretary of agriculture.

Charles Nagel, of Missouri, to be secretary of commerce and labor.

Huntington Wilson, of Illinois, to be assistant secretary of state.

Beekman Winthrop, of New York, to be assistant secretary of the navy.

William Loeb, Jr., of New York, to be collector of customs for the district of New York, N. Y.

Lewis Dalby, of Virginia, to be an Indian inspector.

Following is a sketch of the members of President Taft's cabinet, which is composed of some of the most able men of the nation.

Philander C. Knox.

Philander Chase Knox, who will be Mr. Taft's secretary of state re-enters the cabinet after five years in the United States senate, to which he was appointed in June, 1904, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Matthew S. Quay. Like most of his colleagues in the new cabinet Mr. Knox is a lawyer and first came into national prominence as attorney general in Mr. McKinley's first cabinet when he successfully prosecuted the Northern Securities case. Mr. Knox is 56 years old, having been born in Brownsville, Pa., May 6, 1853. After graduating from Mount Union college at Alliance, Ohio, he began the study of law in Pittsburg and three years later was admitted to the bar in that city. When Mr. Knox was only 24 years of age he was appointed assistant United States district attorney for the Western district of Pennsylvania. After a short term in this office, however, he resigned and entered private practice with James H. Reed, under the firm name of Knox and Reed. The firm became counsel for many large interests and it is said that Mr. Knox has received some of the largest fees ever paid in this country.

Richard A. Ballinger.

Four states may claim a proprietary interest in Richard A. Ballinger, the new secretary of the interior. He is a native of Iowa, having been born in Boonsboro in 1859, after practicing law in Illinois for a while he removed to Alabama, and in 1888 he became a resident of Port Townsend in Washington state. The next year he was appointed United States commissioner at Port Townsend and later was elected judge of the superior court of Jefferson county. Five years ago Mr. Ballinger was elected Mayor of Seattle, and when his term of mayor expired President Roosevelt appointed him commissioner of the general land office.

Jacob A. Dickinson.

Jacob McGavock Dickinson, the new secretary of war, is the southern member of President Taft's cabinet. A Mississippian by birth, he is a citizen of Tennessee and as a Cleveland Democrat supported Mr. Taft for the presidency. Probably the most notable public service was as counsel for the United States in the Alaskan boundary case before the arbitration tribunal in London in 1903. He was an assistant attorney general during Cleveland's administration, and has been general counsel for the Illinois Central Railroad company for some years, spending most of his time in Chicago, where the general offices of that company are located. Mr. Dickinson is 58 years old.

George Von Lengerke Meyer.

George von Lengerke Meyer, who goes from the postmaster general's office to the navy department was brought into the cabinet in February, 1907, to succeed Postmaster General Cortelyou. He was at that time ambassador at St. Petersburg, to which post he had been transferred from Rome where he had served five years as ambassador. Mr. Meyer is a native of Boston, in which city he was born in 1858.

George W. Wickersham.

New York's representative in the new cabinet is George W. Wickersham, who becomes attorney general. Mr. Wickersham is a member of the law firm in which President Taft's brother, Henry W. Taft, is a partner, and he is known as an expert in railroad law. Although a resident of New York city, Mr. Wickersham is a native of Pennsylvania, having been born in Pittsburg in 1858.

Charles Nagel.

Charles Nagel, of St. Louis, the new secretary of commerce and labor, is better known among lawyers and educators than to the public at large, although he served as a member of the Missouri house of representatives and is a member of the Republican national committee. He is a native westerner, having been born in Colorado county, Texas, in 1849.

Frank H. Hitchcock.

Although the youngest member of the new cabinet, Frank H. Hitchcock, Mr. Taft's postmaster-general, is probably better known to the general public than any of his colleagues by reason of the prominence he obtained as chairman of the Republican national committee in the recent campaign. Mr. Hitchcock is only forty-two years of age, and since he left school has been in the employ of the government.

James Wilson.

If Secretary Wilson continues to hold the agricultural portfolio until next November, he will have broken the record for continuous cabinet service, which is now held by Albert Gallatin, once secretary of the treasury, who served twelve years, eight months and twenty-five days. Secretary Wilson was appointed at the outset of the McKinley administration.

Franklin MacVeagh.

Franklin MacVeagh, merchant, who will be the next secretary of the treasury, was born on a farm near Phoenixville, Chester county, Pennsylvania. He was graduated from Yale as B. A. in 1862, and from Columbia Law school, New York, in 1884, and began practice with his brother, Wayne MacVeagh, but, his health failing, he abandoned law, and went west. Shortly after he established in Chicago the wholesale grocery house of Franklin MacVeagh and company, which for many years has been one of the largest in the country, and from which it is reported he has only recently resigned. He is also a director of the Commercial National bank and other Chicago corporations.

STILL AT IT.

From the New York Press.

In early youth where on a farm
He worked both long and late,
There stood a wooden drinking trough
Beside the barnyard gate.
It always held a good supply,
And there at 6 o'clock
Each evening all the year around
He used to water stock.

Behold him now, a broker bald,
And pretty gross and gay,
A member of a series of clubs
Well known upon Broadway;
He sports a diamond like an egg,
And owns a city block,
And half a dozen motor cars,
For still he waters stock.

NO PREVENTIVE MEDICINE MAY PROLONG LIFE

Dr. John C. Torrey in Harper's.

During the past fifty years preventive medicine has done far more to alleviate suffering and to prolong life than the average man is aware. It is estimated that during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries the death rate throughout the civilized world ranged from 50 to perhaps 80 per 1,000. Today in London, Berlin, and New York, the average lies between 17 and 18. This great decrease in yearly mortality is due principally to protection from infectious diseases now afforded to children during the first five years of life. In New York City there has been a reduction since 1873 of over fifty per cent in the death rate of the infantile portion of the population. It is obvious that the probable life time has increased coincidentaly with the prevention of diseases to which children of tender years are especially susceptible. Dr. Hermann M. Biggs, of the New York City Health Department, has estimated that "the expectation of life at birth in this city in 1866 was only a little more than twenty-five years, while in 1903, calculated on the death rate for that year, it had almost doubled, and equalled about forty-two years." Such statistics as these are certainly striking commentaries on the advance and triumph of medical research; for it is true beyond cavil that this progress has been dependent primarily upon the knowledge gained in the laboratories, the harvest of persistent investigation.

HARD AT BREAKFAST.

From the Chicago News.

"I used to be a weather prophet in my home town," confided the new boarder, as he speared a potato with his fork.

"So?" commented the comedian boarder laconically.

"Yes, and every time I look at that steak it reminds me of a winter's day."

"How so?"

"Cold and raw."

"Quite clever. How does the coffee strike you?"

"That reminds me of a November day—cloudy and unsettled."

"Good. And do you notice that the landlady is watching us?"

"Yes, and she reminds me of a March day."

"Tell us why."

"Because she is cold and stormy."

And the look that the landlady passed down to that end of the table would have congealed a red-hot stove.

France stands alarmed by an increase of something like 10 per cent in four years in the cost of food, clothing and others necessary supplies. Milk is 11 per cent higher, meat 27 per cent, cheese 16 per cent, oil 25 per cent. The price of rice has doubled. Rents follow the upward trend.

WHY?

Why is it that some people insist on continuing to do things in the old way when it is well known that modern ways are almost always better. When our grandmothers used to cook in an open grate, coal ranges were considered a luxury and few people used them. Coal ranges are now outclassed by the gas range. They have every argument in favor of them.

We would appreciate the opportunity of explaining the many advantages of a gas range.

Remember, a gas-range is a coal range with a college education.

DREADFUL DISEASE IS CURED BY CUTICURA

"My six year old daughter had the dreadful disease called hives for two months. She had been affected by playing with children who had it, although we did not know it. By scratching she caused large sores which were irritating. Her body was a complete sore but it was worse on her ... We employed a physician who left medicine but it did not help her and I tried several remedies but without avail. Seeing the Cuticura Remedies advertised, I thought I would try them. I gave her a hot bath daily with Cuticura Soap and anointed her body with Cuticura Ointment. The first treatment relieved the itching and in a short time the disease disappeared. JUST IN TIME

Some Colorado Springs People May Wait Till It's Too Late.

Don't wait until too late.
Be sure and be in time.
Just in time with kidney ills.
Means curing the back.
Before backache becomes chronic.
Before serious urinary troubles set in.

Doan's Kidney Pills will do this.

Here is Colorado Springs testimony to prove it.

Mrs. J. M. Bashen, 421 South Nevada avenue, Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have proved of priceless value to me. About six years ago I was taken with a dull dragging down pain in my back. The secretions from my kidneys were very much disordered, too frequent and excessive in action and plainly showed that my kidneys were at fault. I doctored but met with but very little success, and it seemed as if the trouble was gradually growing worse. Finally I tried Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the D. Y. Butcher Drug Co.'s store and can conscientiously say that I received more positive benefit from their use than from any remedy previously taken."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

What the Press Agents Say

LILLIAN RUSSELL IN "WILDFIRE."

Lillian Russell will be greeted by a packed house Monday evening, when she appears at the Opera House in her great racing comedy success, "Wildfire." The demand for seats is so large that no orders will be held after 12 noon, Monday.

Lillian Russell's complacency is proverbial, but when intrusion breaks upon her rest plans, she does not always look as pleasant as can be. Last spring at the end of a trying road tour in her big play "Wildfire," the famous beauty arranged to stay for a fortnight at Atlantic City and rest up before sailing for Europe. Her plans were all right until the camera fiend upset them. Wherever she went Miss Russell was flanked by cameras and the persistent and exasperating click of the fiendish things jarred upon her nerves so that

The Princess of Comedy in Her Big Racing Comedy Success, Which Comes to the Opera House for One Night Only, Monday Evening.

Miss Russell's visit was nearly spoiled.

Miss Russell has tasted public life long enough to know the ... but she rather balks on snap shots at the seaside, and especially when one wants to be left to one's self and the enjoyment of being out of the public whirl for a time at least.

Miss Russell has heard of a wonderful mountain camp off the beaten trail, and next spring when her long tour closes she may run down from the northwest and spend a few weeks in this out of the way haven in the White mountains of Arizona. Here if there is any camera shooting to do Miss Russell will gather some specimens of her own, for the scenery there is beyond description.

"ZEKE, THE COUNTRY BOY."

The big "show" comes next Wednesday, when "Zeke, the country boy," plays two performances at the Opera House. This is the first band and orchestra show of the season, and a big parade will be given at noon with a band concert in front of the Opera House just before the matinee and evening performances.

This band has eleven pieces in it, and is the best one carried on the road. The concert will offer all the latest hits in band music, including several entirely new compositions.

"Zeke, the Country Boy," is a rural comedy, free from all slap-stick, rough and tumble effects. It is the best of its kind, and children always enjoy it immensely. It tells the story of Zeke, a boy detective, who prevents a rascally villain from stealing property belonging to an orphan. The play is full of heart interest and real funny comedy.

There will be a special matinee Wednesday afternoon. Prices for the matinee are 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults. At night, 25c, 50c, 75c and $1.00 for reserved seats.

THE BELLBOYS AND OPALS.

From the Philadelphia North American.

When Edward Park, "the opal king," who arrived at the Bellevue-Stratford Wednesday night, finished the ceremony of registering by presenting the clerk with an unset opal and tipped the bellboys with semiprecious stones from the bags which he carried in his bulging pockets, it caused almost as much excitement as though Scotty, the Death Valley spender, had got back on the job.

Pressed for an explanation of his whimsical tips, Mr. Park explained that he was a New York banker, and had been in Mexico for two months seeking privileges for public service corporations. During that time he had picked up a lot of Mexican gems to give to his friends when he got back.

From each of his pockets he pulled bags which seemed to be nearly full of the stones. The hotel management was so impressed with the necessity of guarding the treasure-laden guest that a detective was assigned to follow him about the hotel all evening. He refused to put his burden in the safe.

About a century ago, when the new steam engine was being developed, many attempts at self-propulsion were made, and from 1830 to 1844 motor passenger vehicles and stage coaches were much used in England and carried thousands of passengers. The advent of the locomotive and restrictive laws drove the auto out of existence there, and left it for Germany, France and America to revive 50 years later.

"FIGHTING BOB" EVANS' GREAT STORY AT THE OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

Admiral Robley D. Evans is a man who has won the warm regard of the nation by years of conspicuous service in the navy. During the Spanish-American war he was one of the commanders who won the victory of Santiago, and previously he brought Chile to its senses, when the lives of seamen were imperiled. But as the crowning of a splendid naval career the taking of the Atlantic fleet from Hampton Roads around the South American continent to San Francisco stands foremost in interest.

It is this personal story, with all its fascinating novelty and humor, that Admiral Evans tells tonight at the Opera House. The complete success of his lectures everywhere is ample warrant that his auditors will, in naval phrase, hear a "rattling good yarn." "Fighting Bob" would win a large audience anywhere on the strength of his naval fame and on account of the warm place he holds in the hearts of good Americans, but he is not standing on a record only. His talk, as he likes to call it, is of such compelling interest that it establishes beyond dispute his new fame on the lecture platform and adds fresh laurels to his already ample supply.

You will regret it if you do not see and hear him tonight at the Opera House. You will find good seats at the box office this evening if you are early. A few seats at popular prices.

THE CRYSTAL.

In its endeavor to give its patrons a good program has secured three of the best pictures money will buy. One in particular, is "Educated Abroad." The tendency of Americans to imitate foreign manners is shown with a decided sense of humor. A Chicago society woman sends her son abroad. He came home with his college chum Lord Swaggar, the latest type with valets, etc. The father sees them and throws a fit. They take a stroll through town and some vaudeville performers see the exquisites, and decide to imitate them in a sketch. The ... agree to put them ... on the bill boards. The boys ... themselves advertised and take in the show. This picture is a decided hit. Be ... and see it. The "Musician's Love Story" is another story that will interest you every bit as much—full of the ... of life, which make it all the more realistic. The story of the little five-year-old girl, who was stolen by the Gypsies and held by them for ... years, is another one that will ... you, because it's different. All kinds of good music. The matinees are especially attractive.

FAIRYLAND THEATER.

Remember this is your last chance to see the good bill, which attracted so much attention at Fairyland.

Grimm & Satchell, the black face team, being one of the best teams in the business, as they are both artists in their line.

Miss Azalea Fountain, the young lady presenting the singing and dancing and contortionist act, is a physical marvel in her line, and is performing some of the most wonderful feats ever presented in vaudeville.

Sara May will sing "Bonnie Jean," which will be sure to please everyone, as she has been well received at each and every performance this week.

Professor Park is running three-fourths of a mile of the very best of motion pictures. "The Clubman and the Tramp," being one of the best comedies known at the present time. You cannot afford to miss this, as it is certainly a good one.

Children admitted for 5 cents. General admission 10 cents.

SPECTACULAR EXTRAVAGANZA PROMISED AT MAJESTIC NEXT WEEK

A wealth of the most gorgeous scenery; a bevy of pretty girls, grotesque comedians; dissolving views; transformation scenes, bewildering costume displays; lighting effects; a fairy story of mystic significance and a corp of efficient stage hands to properly produce it, is the spectacular extravaganza, "The Hipnotic Glass," to be presented upon the stage of the Majestic next week by the LaZar & LaZar organization of comic opera artists. It is by all odds the most expensive, dazzling and generous presentation ever brought to this city. The principal players include pantomimic artists, singers, dancers and comedians from the famous Drury Lane theater of London, whose names mean much to English theatergoers. They are Josh LaZar, Montague Wilson, Edward Carre, Regina LaZar, Fanny Phillips, Dora Brandon, Ruth Borden and Ethel Cahill.

The "Hipnotic Glass" is in three scenes, showing the "Orchestra Rehearsal of the Philharmonic Society," "The Enchanted Grotto" and the "Fairy's Dell." It is one of those rare productions that will delight the eye and ear of the little folk and their elders who have pleasurable remembrances of the old-time Christmas spectacle.

The second headliner on the Majestic bill will be two ... ... the ... J. and ... one-act comedy ... "A Snap Shot." There there will be ... Darnley, acrobatic dancer ...; Hayes and Binden, ... foremost banjo artists; ... Virginia ... in song ... and dancing; Carrie McManus ... soprano selections and the al... come Majesticscope.

LONG-TIME LEASE ON PRINCE ALBERT

UNION LEASING COMPANY SECURES PROPERTY.

Lease Covers Property on Southeastern Slope of Beacon Hill Amounting to 26 Acres

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, March 5—Lease papers are being drawn up and will be executed the first of the week granting a long time lease on the properties of the Prince Albert Mining company, limited to the Union Leasing company. This lease will cover the Prince Albert, Eureka and Beacon claims containing 26 acres on the southeastern slope of Beacon hill.

The Union Leasing company already holds a lease on the entire estate of the Gold Dollar Consolidated containing approximately fifty acres adjoining the Prince Albert. The Union company is mining ore from three shifts on the Gold Dollar, and is making the heaviest production in the history of this company. The Prince Albert properties will also be operated on an extensive scale.

With the leasing of the Prince Albert practically every property on the eastern slope of Beacon hill will become active. The Four Brothers, owned by the Agnes Gold Mining company, is under lease to Iowa parties. The St. Thomas is active under lease to the Western Investment company of Victor. The Requa-Savage to the Evelyn Leasing company, and the Black Belle Gold Mining company's estate was recently leased to M. B. Burke of this city for a five-year term.

BLUE BIRD PROPERTY IS YIELDING FAIR GRADE ORE

Thirty Cars of Average Value of $30 to Ton Sent Out by Leasing Company During February

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, March 5—The production made by the Blue Bird Mining and Leasing company from the Blue Bird mine on Bull hill during February, totaled 30 cars of an average value of close to $30 a ton. Seven sets of lessees are operating different leases near the surface, and the majority of them, if not all of them, are making money. But their ore is of a lower average value per ton, and is not included in the shipments of the leasing company.

Development work is being carried on by the lessees at the 1,200-foot level, this being done in connection with that work the 1,400-foot level of the Portland Gold Mining company's No. 3 shaft, thereby affording excellent ventilation to the Blue Bird mine workings.

TRADE QUIET IN TONE

Weather Irregularities and Tariff Uncertainties Combine to Disturb Commercial World.

NEW YORK March 5—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Weather irregularities and tariff and price revision uncertainties combine in making a rather quiet tone in trade and industry, pending clearer views of these and winter wheat crop possibilities. The trade reports come from the central west and southwest and in those sections jobbing trade shows moderate improvement, as do collections. The urgent need of rain in Texas is accentuated this week, while in the rest of the south business is still rather dull.

Most activity with some complaint of delayed deliveries is noted in the finer lines of dress goods and women's wear goods are in a more favorable position than men's fabrics. Agricultural implements and supplies are displaying continued good movement.

Cuts in iron and steel have as yet brought out only a moderate amount of business.

Collections are irregular and not better than fair as a whole.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending March 4 were 219, against 244 last week, 287 in the like week of 1908, 212 in 1907, 177 in 1906, and 190 in 1905.

Canadian failures for the week number 37, which compares with 40 last week and 49 in the like week of 1908.

STOCK TRANSACTIONS COVER NARROW RANGE

Trading Largely in Hands of Professionals. Balkans Still Disturbing Element.

NEW YORK March 5—The movement of the stock market today was still under the restraint of its professional limitation. The day's transactions were attributed almost wholly to the trading class, and the operations were not pushed beyond rather narrow limits. The constant response of the financial markets to the variations in the tenor of news from the Balkans gives warning of the power of disturbance lying in that subject. Today its influence was favorable. Some slight speculative liquidation was induced by the drop in prices, after which another upward swing set in. The whole market showed considerable sympathy with Reading. The approach of the end of the week seems to bring pressure on Reading on the part of those who assume that a verdict in favor of the commodities clause has been formed by the supreme court which each arriving Monday, being decision day for the court, may see handed down.

The beginning of conference between representatives of miners and the anthracite operators are apparently awakened to some new apprehensions over the outlook for the anthracite companies. The labor question is looming into prominence also in the steel trade. The abrogation of the continuous working agreement between the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and the Western Bar Iron association does away with the assurances of work at the mills pending a wage agreement after July 1, and there were reported current of coming wage reductions in other branches of the iron trade. The sustaining point in the market was found in the copper industrials. The strength in this group helped to pull up prices after the force of these depressing factors had been somewhat spent. There was a professional short covering as well. Publication of the details of orders for equipment by the New York Central had the same helpful effect that was shown by that company's order for steel rails.

The estimates of the week's current movement gave promise of a substantial addition to the cash holdings of the banks by the inflow from the interior. The money market was soft in consequence. At the same time discounts were rather firmer in London, foreign exchange rates rose and a further outgo of gold was made probable. At the end of the day, recovery had carried the price level to higher than at the outset and gains were general.

Bonds were heavy. Total sales par value, $2,080,000. United States 4s, coupon, advanced ¼ per cent on call.

CLOSE TO THOUSAND TONS SHIPPED DURING FEBRUARY

Good Returns Secured From Bull Hill School Section No. 16. Ore Runs $22 to Ton.

Special to The Gazette.

CAMERON, Colo., March 5—The School Section Leasing company, operating Block 8 of the Bull hill School section No. 16, shipped out 28 cars during February containing between 850 and 950 tons of the average value of $22 a ton.

The original lease on this school land recently renewed for a 20-year term is held by the Co-operative Mining and Leasing company, whose shareholders for the most part reside at Colorado City. This company, it is learned, declared and paid a dividend of one cent per share during 1908, amounting to $8,000. The company is capitalized for one million shares but about 200,000 shares still remain unissued. The School Section Leasing company pays this company a flat royalty on all ores marketed of 25 per cent. The royalty required by the state from the original lease-holding corporation is 10 per cent flat.

THE FIREBRAND OF SERVIA, PRINCE GEORGE

The crown prince of Servia, who has just passed his majority, is doing everything possible to render the crisis in the Balkan state dangerous. He has made many fiery speeches, and accordling to reports has announced that if necessary he would even take arms against Austria-Hungary. This new and striking portrait shows his clear cut, strong profile, full of character and determination.

BEARISH NEWS FORCES WHEAT PRICES LOWER

Market Closes Weak at Almost the Bottom. Corn and Oats Affected by the Slump in Wheat.

CHICAGO March 5—Wheat prices broke from 1¾ to 3¾ on the board today, owing to general liquidation based on extremely bearish domestic and foreign news. May sold off to $1.15 and July to $1.03⅝, a loss of 4½ and 3½, respectively compared with the high points for the season established two days ago. The market closed weak at almost the bottom. Corn and oats were affected by the slump in wheat and closed weak but provisions closed firm.

A panicky situation developed in the wheat market and prices fluctuated violently. The market opened weak at declines of ⅝ to 2¼@2⅝, compared with the previous close. Initial quotations on May were at $1.15⅝ to $1.17½ and on July $1.01¾ to $1.05¾.

The weakness at the start was due to rumors which were later denied by the interested parties to the effect that many shorts in the May delivery had made private settlements with the leading bull and to a decline of ⅝ to 1 pence at Liverpool. There seemed to be little support to the market on the break except from small shorts and although prices made slight gains from the opening low points there was no well-defined rally. News of the to a decline of ⅝ to 1 pennys at Liverpool reported that Argentine offerings were liberal and that the visible supply of wheat in the South American country was increasing rapidly and also that India was offering wheat more freely. In this country demand for cash wheat showed a marked abatement and crop reports were more reassuring to the bears. In the final half of the session the market experienced another sharp decline due to reports that the leading long had been selling freely through commission houses. The low point for May was $1.13. July at the same time declined to $1.00⅝. The market closed extremely weak at net losses for the day of 1⅝@2¾ compared with yesterday's final quotations, May being at $1.15⅝@½ and July at $1.03¾@04⅜. The break in wheat caused liberal realizing in the corn market resulting in considerable weakness all day. The close was weak, with prices almost at the bottom, and at net declines for the day of ⅜ to ⅝. May closed at 67⅜ to 67⅝@¾, and July at 65¾@⅞.

Oats followed the trend of other grain, sentiment in the pit being bearish all day. At the close, prices were ½@⅝ lower compared with yesterday's close, May being at 55⅝@¾ and July at 50¼.

Provisions were firm all day. At the close, prices were a shade to 7½@5c higher than the previous close.

ONE WAY TO GET A WAITER.

From the Philadelphia Record.

To get a waiter quickly in a big cafe is at times very difficult, but a Germantown man recently learned a method from a New York friend which is guaranteed instantly to bring not one but several waiters. This Germantown man was giving a dinner to one of Philadelphia's swellest cafes, with the New Yorker and two women as his guests. After a long delay a waiter came and took the order. Then one of the women decided that she must make a change in her order. The host signaled one waiter after another without avail. After about ten minutes of violent gesticulating on his part the New Yorker said:

"You don't know how to attract their attention. I'll bet you $5 I can bring a waiter to this table within thirty seconds."

The bet was laid. Said the Philadelphian, drawing out his watch: The New Yorker reached over into the middle of the table, picked up a thin delicate glass and deliberately dashed it to the floor. Instantly every waiter in the room came rushing up to see what was the trouble.

Charge one thunder up on the bill, said the New Yorker ironically, and hunt up one of those oyster orders for Blue Points.

As the waiters dispersed in addition I guess you owe me a five-spot, old man.

SNOWBALLS CLEAR HIGHWAYS.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Ben Smith, a scientific farmer, utilized his knowledge in almost practical manner today when he cleared his farm of the heavy snow and then generously offered his services to the township supervisors and opened up some badly drifted roads.

"It's all very easy when you know how," modestly commented Mr. Smith when congratulated upon his work. "I merely used the old idea of rolling a huge snowball."

That is precisely what was done. For instance, in opening up the roads he walked out into the middle of the highway, made a snowball and proceeded to roll it over and over until it reached a diameter of six feet.

He then ordered one of his men to bring down a traction engine. With this motive force he pushed the snowball over and over until it grew to such dimensions that it completely filled the road.

It rolled into a ten-foot drift, and in the easiest manner imaginable picked up every bit of snow there and made an easy passage for teams. The snowballs were melted with jets of steam from the same traction engine.

READY TO BE KICKED.

From the Kansas City Journal.

A rough looking man walked into an Atchison cafe the morning morning. "Give me an order of ham and eggs, with an extra slice of ham, two stacks of wheats, fried potatoes and coffee," he said. He cleaned up everything that was set before him in addition to two extra cups of coffee. When he was through he wiped his mouth carefully, indulged in a self-satisfied stretch and walked up to the cashier's counter.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

From the New York Press.

You can lick almost anything into a boy but sense.

The most that a girl likes about getting engaged is how some mean old cat said she never could.

The more friends a man has, the more he'd better never try to prove it by putting them to the test.

Most men who are born rich act as if they were smarter to inherit a fortune than their fathers were to make it.

A woman can reconcile herself to letting one man make love to her when it ought to be another by thinking how indignant she could act if the right one knew.

ACKNOWLEDGED WITH THANKS.

From Everybody's Magazine.

A patronizing young lord was seated opposite the late James McNeill Whistler at dinner one evening. During a lull in the conversation he adjusted his monocle and leaned forward toward the artist.

"As you know, Mr. Whistler," he drawled, "I purchased your house this morning."

"Thank you," said Whistler quietly. "Thank you very much."

WAR PLAN FOR PEACE

From the New York Herald

Prof George T Ladd, of Yale, presented a novel plan for ending the talk of war between Japan and the United States at the reunion of the Alumni association of the Western Reserve university of Cleveland Ohio

"I would take the best battleship in the American navy," said Prof Ladd, after discussing at length the Christian nations of the western world, "then I would place Richmond Pearson Hobson in command man the vessel with certain members of congress and representatives of a certain belligerent press, and send it to the middle of the Pacific where it would meet a Japanese vessel similarly manned by Japanese I would let them fight, and, after picking up the survivors place them on an island where they would be required to live together for a period That, I think, would effectually end all talk of war in this country or in Japan"

GENUINE WAR

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Two muscular individuals were hammering at each other in the ring

"Horrible" ejaculated a tender-hearted spectator.

"Horrible nothing," said a regular patron If you want to see a real scrap get next to them when they divide the purse"

Need longer arms?

When a man holds his newspaper at arms length you may know he needs glasses. Stretching his arms will do for a time but he can't make his arms longer. He can get a pair of our properly-fitting glasses, and the sooner he does the less he will have to depend on glasses and the longer his eyes will last. It's no disgrace to wear glasses. Nor is it a sign of advancing age. It is more often the sign of a reader and thinker. Our eyeglasses are convenient and inconspicuous.

Shine 'Em Up!

Get the dust and dirt off your shoes. Give 'em a polish—one that'll last a while. Use Shinola. It makes old shoes look good—new shoes look better. Gives 'em "the shine that won't come off." Makes 'em wear better, too. It's easy to apply. Try it. We sell it.

Our Important $25.00 Suit Sale
Is Attracting Widespread Attention

In this store's enviable business career we cannot remember of a sale so timely and of such sterling worth. Indeed, in former years we have shown suits at $35 that could not compare with the garments in this sale at twenty-five.

The range of styles and colorings is broad and the suits come to us from the foremost makers of women's tailored suits. The styles are exclusive and the workmanship unsurpassed.

The monotone stripes, so much in vogue, are represented; then there are shepherd checks, and plain colors.

The coats are shown in the popular lengths and finished according to the prevailing tendencies. The skirts are the popular gored styles with buttons, self folds, piping, etc., used in various ways as trimming.

It is an excellent lot of smart tailored suits and you'll not find their equal for the money elsewhere. In the lot are suits marked to sell on up to $35, but they will be included at $25 for today only. We're anxious for you to see the suits, try them on, examining the materials and workmanship. You'll buy if you do.
